Missouri Prisons Change

Guards Discard Clubs as Facelifting Starts in 'Big House' At Jefferson City

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Guards at Missouri's riot scarred state penitentiary discarded their clubs and night sticks yesterday as part of a face lifting program ordered by Col. James D. Carter, new head of the corrections department.

At the same time Carter announced Guard St. Lewen R. Mullinex of Ellsinore has been appointed housekeeping officer in charge of a detail of inmates to keep the prison spic and span, inside and out.

As part of the clean-up, paint-up program, every cell in the big prison will be redecorated with light green walls and egg shell colored ceilings. Bars and metal work will be aluminum color.

Carter reported painting already has started in "J" and "K" Hall, scene of destructive rioting last fall.

When the cells are painted, they will be fumigated and a new mattress, sheets and pillow cases will be made uniform. As part of that plan, Carter said equipment has been received for a new central radio system, with individual ear phones in each cell, and the work of installing it will start at once.

As soon as materials arrive, he said, mattress manufacture will start at the prison's Church Farm, the honor farm west of Jefferson City. Each mattress is expected to cost $4 under this plan.

So far, Carter reported, about 200 inmates have been employed in the clean-up work and an effort will be made to keep as many as possible busy in the various details.

Guards were ordered to turn in their clubs, night sticks and canes yesterday. They will be stored in the prison's armory and will be issued only in cases of emergency.

Guards will be measured for uniforms in a few days. The goal is to have all of them in uniform by the end of October. In the past they have worn clothes of their own choice, no two alike.

During the clean-up campaign, part of "J" and "K" Hall is being converted into a dormitory to be used as a pre-release unit for about 100 men. All inmates ready for release will be segregated there about three weeks before their terms are finished and will be given a rehabilitation program to fit them for life in the outside world. More privileges will be given to these men.

Carter said this would eliminate the temptation to smuggle out articles for a friend and speed up the whole dressing out process.

To aid in the reconstruction program, Carter plans to take Deputy Warden W. P. Steinhauser and seven guard sergeants on an inspection trip of the model Illinois State Prison at Joliet Sept. 7.

Most of the renovation now under way was part of the program recommended last winter by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly's special prison survey commission headed by Maj. Gen. Ralph Truman (Ret.) of Springfield.

Negroes Want Probe Of Texas Councils

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—About 50 Negro groups here have united to ask a Justice Department probe of Texas Citizens Councils, formed to preserve racial segregation.

The Negro groups, organized under the name of the Harris County Council of Organizations, accused Texas Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd and Gov. Allan Shivers of lending aid to the Citizens Councils. They asked U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell to instruct Shepperd to comply with his pledge of office to uphold the U.S. Constitution.

"We think the Citizens Councils are un-American and undemocratic," the council said in a letter mailed last Friday to the attorney general.

Terrific Explosion In Chicago Factory

CHICAGO (AP)—A terrific explosion and flash fire last night destroyed half a square block in a near Southwest Side factory district, injuring at least 36 persons and causing an estimated million dollars damage.

No deaths were reported but a hunt for possible victims will be made after weakened walls of the burned buildings are destroyed. It was believed all factory workers had escaped.

Inquest Hears Of Pressure To Get Body

Young Socialite's Suspicious Death Now Being Probed

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The first witness at the coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Doris Silver Oestreicher, young heiress bride of a Miami Beach policeman, testified today that he was told that "much pressure" had been applied at the city morgue to release the body "immediately."

Dr. Melville J. Aston, medical examiner, did not ask the witness Detective Nathan M. Smith, to name the source of the alleged pressure.

Smith said he was summoned to the North Philadelphia apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz shortly before midnight on Aug. 24 and that he was met by two policemen who said a young woman had "died suddenly."

Smith said he found Mrs. Oestreicher lying on a bed and covered by a blanket. He added that she appeared to be wearing only a brassiere.

In the bedroom, the witness went on, were the Schwartzes, and another couple he said was identified as the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman R. Silver. Silver is vice president of Food Fair stores, one of the largest super-market chains on the Eastern Seaboard.

Two physicians also were there, he testified, Dr. Samuel Katz, allegedly the Silver family physician, and Dr. Samuel Manstein. Smith quoted Dr. Manstein as saying he was summoned by Mrs. Schwartz from his office across the street and that Mrs. Oestreicher had gone to the bathroom and suddenly cried out "Help me. I'm sick. Help me."

He said the Schwartzes told him they found her on the bathroom floor and that they tried to revive her with alcohol, liniments and ice cubes before calling Dr. Katz.

The girl's father said through his attorney last night that he was not acquainted with the Schwartzes before the night his daughter died and that he did not know his wife and daughter were at the Schwartz home until he was summoned there hurriedly when his daughter became ill.

Schwartz was identified as a bartender and his wife as a beautician.

He said there was some confusion at first about the girl's identity; that he was told she was married to an Earl Oestreicher from whom she was separated; that at one time she was identified as Shirley and then as Doris Jean.

Oestreicher, a Florida motorcycle policeman, and Doris Silver eloped to Georgia two months ago. Six weeks afterward she returned to her family home in suburban Melrose Park.

Smith added that Oestreicher was informed on his arrival from Florida less than two days after his wife died that investigators believed his wife's death was due to an induced abortion. He said Oestreicher asked if he could attend the inquest and add that he wanted to give investigators all possible help.

Poses as Customer, Robs Bank of $2,052

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A man who posed as a customer when he entered the office of the Reliance Federal Savings & Loan Assn. in suburban Affton yesterday held up the place and escaped with $2,052.

The bandit, with a missing or badly chipped upper front tooth, forced Gerhard Lubbes, secretary-treasurer of the firm, to lie on the floor while Mrs. Bertha Lappas, another employee, took the money from a cash drawer at his direction.

When he entered, the robber told Mrs. Lappas "I would like to talk about a loan." He waited until Lubbes finished a phone conversation. Then, displaying a pistol, he commanded "Freeze, buddy, and lie down on your stomach."

The bandit fled on foot.

Dismiss Policemen

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two officers of the St. Louis County Police Department who engaged in a heated argument last Saturday were fired yesterday by Albert E. DuBois, department superintendent.

The dismissed officers are Lt. Harris R. Hayercraft, who has been formally charged with assault in the case, and Patrolman Obren S.

Motor Strike Settled

American Motor Corp. First of Little Three To Settle With the CIO

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. today became the first of the Little Three in the auto industry to settle with the CIO United Auto Workers on the Big Three contract pattern. The settlement ended a strike called by the union last midnight.

The American Motors settlement differed in one major respect with that reached with the Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. AMC's layoff pay plan will not be put into operation until a year after the others.

The company will start paying into a trust fund Sept. 15, 1956, and benefits will not become available until a year after that. Benefits become effective at the Big Three next June 1.

UAW vice president Leonard Woodcock said the union agreed to the year's delay in an effort to make American Motors "a permanent success in the auto industry" and to help a group of 3,000 displaced former Hudson Motor Car Co. employees in Detroit.

Woodcock mentioned the company's "economic problems attendant on the merger" and said the UAW wanted to "help American Motors meet these problems."

Edward L. Cushman, American Motors vice president, said his company had been paying more than the going rates in the auto industry and had asked the union to "bargain on the economic facts of American Motors Corp."

Woodcock said the layoff pay plan, wage increases and other benefits in the new American Motors agreement constitute a 14-cent an hour package for the first year of the three-year pact. This includes a wage boost of six to eight cents an hour for all employees. Additional six-cent raises will be given in 1956 and 1957.

The UAW previously had estimated the value of the Ford, General Motors and Chrysler packages in excess of 20 cents an hour the first year.

The Big Three average wage was about $2.10 an hour when the 1955 round of negotiations began. Cushman said American Motors has been paying 3 cents an hour more.

American Motors has seven plants—three in Milwaukee and one each in Detroit; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Kenosha, Wis.; and El Segundo, Calif.

The UAW still has not settled with the other Little Three companies—Studebaker-Packard Corp. and Kaiser Motors Corp. Studebaker's 9,000 employees struck yesterday, refusing to extend a contract that expired Wednesday midnight.

See Ike to Be Election Leader, Running or Not

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower was pictured today as most likely to play an active role in the 1956 presidential campaign whether he runs for re-election or not.

Eisenhower aides said privately he is determined to try to guide the Republican party along the "dynamic conservatism" lines he has said it must follow to remain in power.

The President's deep interest in the party's future was pointed out yesterday in the Summer White House announcement that he will confer here Sept. 10 with the Republican chairmen from all 48 states.

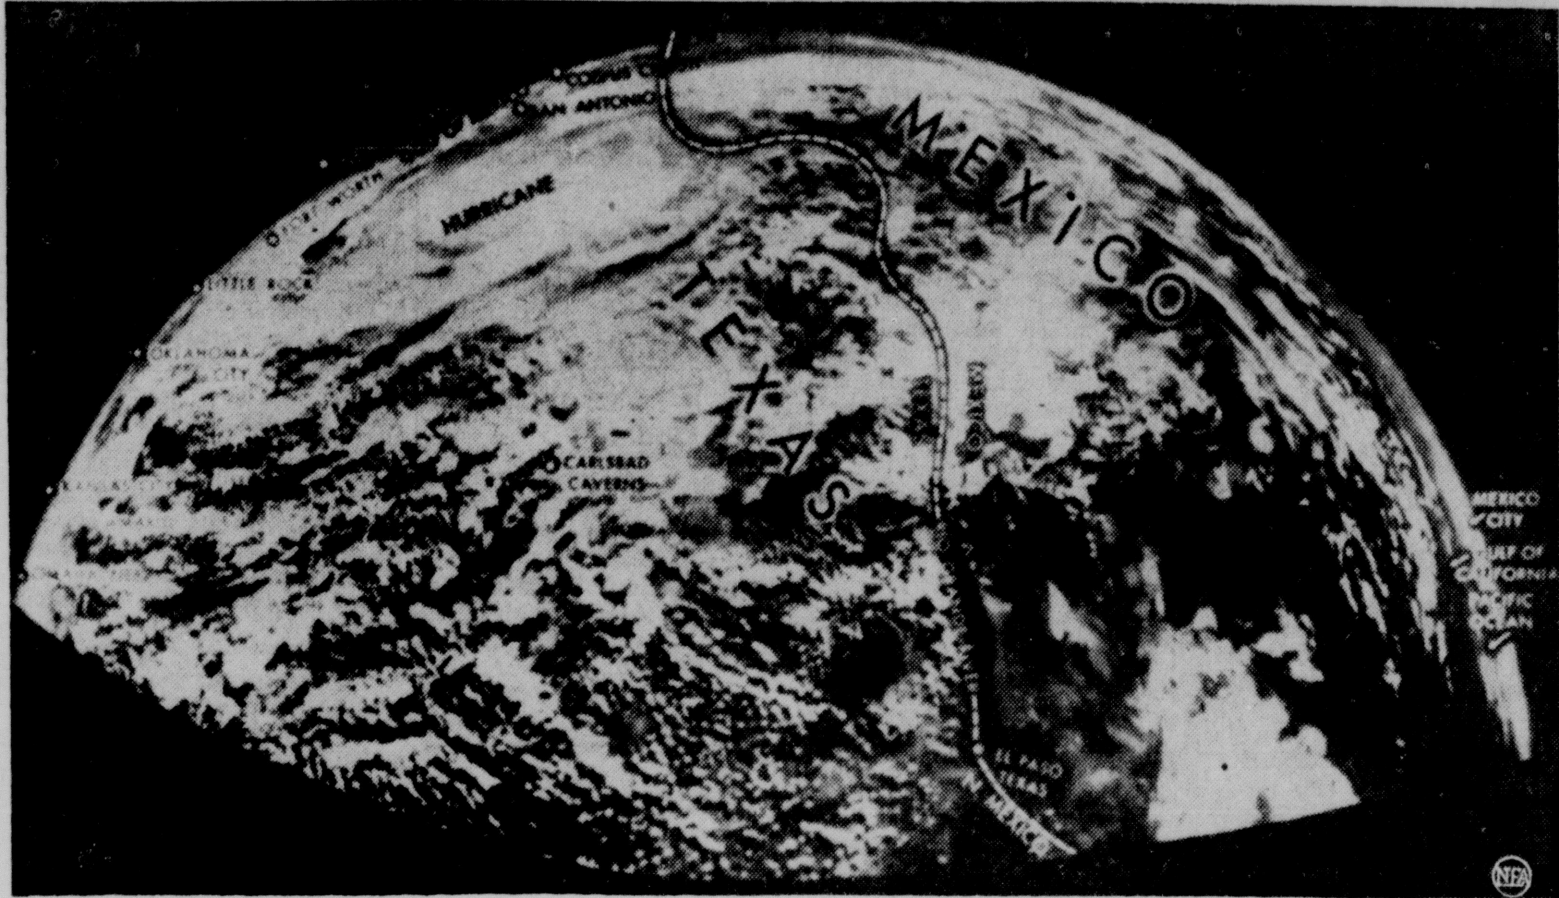

They will be accompanied from an earlier Washington meeting by Leonard W. Hall, GOP national chairman. And it is being taken almost for granted that the party leaders will appeal to the President to bid for a second term.

Presidential associates here said Eisenhower is as intensely interested in trying to help the Republicans recapture control of Congress next year as he is in keeping the White House in GOP hands—regardless of whether he is the candidate.

FBI Discovers Body Of Missing Chemist

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The FBI said today the body of a man found in Mammoth Cave National Park had been identified positively as that of a vacationing Chicago chemist who had been missing since July 20.

Thomas J. Gearty, special agent in charge of the Louisville FBI office, said information provided by a young Milwaukee couple had resulted in finding the body. Both are being held.

THE EARTH FROM 100 MILES UP—This is the earth as seen from 100 miles up. Approximately 1.25 million square miles of the earth's surface are shown in the photo, made up of 310 prints from a 16 mm. color motion picture film shot from an Aerobee rocket fired from White Sands, New Mex., by the Naval Research Lab of Washington, D. C., on October 5, 1954. The horizon extends about 2,800 miles, from Omaha, Neb., on the left, to the lower Gulf of California (in Mexico) on the right. Parts of nine states and the whole of Texas are shown. In the upper left of the photo is what is believed to be the first picture of a complete hurricane. It is about 1000 miles in diameter and centered near Del Rio, Tex. The surface winds beneath the hurricane were, however, easterly and had normal velocity. (NEA Telephoto)

Peron Places Buenos Aires Under Siege

Emergency Powers To 'Annihilate' Foes Given By Congress

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina. (AP)—Congressional approval of a "state of siege" for Buenos Aires today bulwarked President Juan Peron's new drive to crush his opposition.

The all-Peronista Senate unanimously okayed the bill last night after the Peron-dominated lower house voted it through 109-12 in compliance with Peron's demand for emergency powers to "annihilate" his foes.

Peron was expected to affix his signature today, transforming into law the measure affecting the capital's 3 1/2 million citizens. The whole country was placed under a state of siege for 13 days after the unsuccessful navy revolt against the government June 16. The new restrictions applied only to Buenos Aires, however.

It appeared the chief effect of the measure would be psychological since Peron already had the special powers under a "state of internal war" clamped on the country in September 1951 after military men staged another abortive revolt.

Both "states" suspend constitutional guarantees to permit the government to hold anyone indefinitely without trial and deny them the right to win freedom under habeas corpus proceedings. However, the state of siege is a constitutional measure, while the state of internal war was an emergency act adopted three years ago for the first time in Argentina's history.

As the House of Deputies rammed through the bill, Angel Enrique Peralta, who represents the powerful pro-Peron General Confederation of Labor (CGT) in the House, said the state of siege would last "as long as necessary—until we eliminate the last danger of troublemakers."

Cheers and Jeers To Russian Farmers

LONDON, Ont. (AP)—Verbal brickbats mixed with bouquets continue to greet Russia's visiting farm experts on their tour of Canada.

The nine Soviet visitors flew here last night from Winnipeg. Flowers were presented on their arrival by a "Friends of Russia" group. Shouts of "murderers" were hurled by a small band of anti-Communist demonstrators.

HELICOPTER FALLS INTO CHANNEL—An R.A.F. Whirlwind helicopter, which was hovering 25 feet above the English Channel as a part of an air-sea rescue demonstration, crashes about 10 miles south of Selsey Bill. The helicopter was preparing to pick up a "stretcher case" from the launch in the background when the engine cut out. The pilot and navigator climbed out unhurt and were picked up by a launch within two minutes of the crash. (NEA Telephoto)

At Mid-Continent, Six Minutes—SAFB Crew Ready to Refuel Three Jets in Bendix Race

Three North American F-100C Super Sabres, competing in the Bendix Trophy Race, will sweep into Sedalia Air Force Base for a quick refueling early Saturday morning, if weather conditions are favorable for the race. The dash to Philadelphia attempts a new transcontinental speed record. The Super Sabres from the Tactical Air Command are among the latest and fastest jet fighters in production.

A skilled ground crew from George Air Force Base, California, arrived here Wednesday to prepare for these refueling stops. Fourteen airmen and two officers under Major Roy C. Saunders, were in the group.

The crew expects to have the jets back in the air within six minutes after their touchdown. They will be refueled and furnished with a new drag chute on the landing strip, without taxiing off. If necessary, the ground crew can change a tire or replace a radio set and still have the Sabres in the air in less than ten minutes.

Major Saunders said the jets would probably depart George Air Force Base in 30-minute intervals, starting at approximately 5 a. m., weather permitting. This will bring them into Sedalia starting about 6:45 a. m. The crew here will have about an hour's notice of takeoff time.

The Sabres will fly at altitudes above 35,000 feet, exceeding the speed of sound at times. Sedalia is not expected to be affected by a sonic boom as the jets approach, because they will penetrate the sonic barriers in level flight. Major Saunders stated that the sonic boom is scarcely powerful enough to rattle windows when the barrier is passed in level flight.

The three fighters will be competing with three other F-100Cs from Foster Air Force Base, California, which will be refueled at another base. The jets require only one refueling in the transcontinental dash. If the jets cannot land here for any reason, they will use Smoky Hill Air Base at Salina, Kan.

The Bendix Trophy record is 616 miles per hour, set last year in an F84F Thunderstreak.

This year there may be another race featuring three B-47 Stratojet 6-engine bombers such as those at SAFB, one from each of the Strategic Air Command's three air forces, the 15th, 8th, and 2nd. They will also be gunning for a transcontinental record for their type of aircraft. If refueling would be necessary, it would be done in the air.

Quiet Night On Gaza Strip After Talks

JERUSALEM (AP)—Only one minor incident was reported along the tense Egyptian-Israeli frontier last night after Israel announced conditional acceptance of an appeal to end the fighting.

An Israeli military spokesman at Tel Aviv said Egyptian infiltrators blew up a well shortly before midnight near Yad Mordechai, an Israeli settlement northeast of the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip.

It was in the Yad Mordechai area that Israel yesterday claimed two Egyptian jet fighters were shot down by Israeli planes.

Israel last night announced acceptance of a U.N.-proposed ceasefire, provided "all attacks by Egyptians in whatever form will cease."

There was no immediate response from Cairo. Egypt agreed Tuesday to the ceasefire proposal by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U.N. truce supervisory commission. The United States and Britain strongly backed Burns' appeal.

The Israeli announcement came as estimates of casualties in the past nine days of fighting in the Gaza area reached as high as 61 killed and 91 wounded. The toll soared when Israeli troops in half-tracks blew up an Egyptian military headquarters at Khan Yunis, in the Egyptian-held Gaza region, Wednesday night.

Israel described the raid as punishment for previous Egyptian attacks and a warning against future hostilities.

The Voice of Israel radio said 40 Egyptians were killed and 40 wounded at Khan Yunis. It said the attackers "could easily have occupied the entire Gaza Strip."

Egypt reported 10 of her men killed and 12 injured, while private informants put the Egyptian losses at 17 dead and 10 wounded.

An Israeli spokesman said one attacker was killed and eight wounded.

Tribune Reports Greenlease Money Found in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said today three bills from the missing $303,720 of the Greenlease kidnap-murder ransom money had been found in Chicago. The FBI declined immediate comment.

The Tribune said that after the discovery more than 30 FBI agents, who have been seeking the money for nearly two years, had been assigned to aid bank employees in checking $10 and $20 bills.

A woman clerk in the federal reserve bank of Chicago discovered a $20 bill that was part of the ransom money, the Tribune said. After she reported this, the bank ordered the day's receipts—between 300,000 and 400,000 bills—rechecked. Then two others were found, the story said.

Previously one $20 bill had been found Aug. 4 in Minot, N.D., and two bills earlier this week at the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

This is the second case of rabies reported in this area. Mrs. Effie Louis Matthews, visiting at Nebo, was bitten by a wolf, which later was found to have been rabid.

Paper's Reports Denied

Army Denies Report That Gen. Trudeau Is to Be Dismissed As Intelligence Head

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army today described as "incorrect" a published report that Maj. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau was dismissed as chief of intelligence by direction of President Eisenhower.

The Army Office of Information issued a formal statement in comment on a story in the New York Daily News to the effect that Eisenhower fired Trudeau at the "personal request" of Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The statement was issued after consultation with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, who has picked Maj. Gen. Ridgely Gaither Jr. to succeed Trudeau.

The text: "The statement that Gen. Trudeau was relieved from his assignment as G2 of the Army (chief of intelligence) by direction of the President is incorrect. Gen. Trudeau is going to an important assignment in the Far East after having completed nearly two years on the job. He has been succeeded by Gen. Gaither who was Gen. Taylor's G2 in the Far East. A new chief of staff is privileged to make his own selection of his principal staff officers."

When Taylor recently took over as Army chief of staff, all of the principal assignments on the General Staff were changed.

The Army announced on Aug. 10 that Trudeau would go to the Far East and be replaced by Gaither who had been in command of the 18th Airborne Corps at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Trudeau's post in the Far East has not been announced. In assigning officers to overseas duty, the Army customarily leaves the announcement of the specific new jobs to the commander in the foreign theater concerned.

In a Washington story by John O'Donnell, the News said Trudeau "actually was removed from his intelligence command by Eisenhower despite the violent, though suppressed, opposition of the Pentagon, from Secretary of Defense Wilson down through the all-powerful Joint Chiefs of Staff and uniformed professionals of Army, Navy and Air."

The newspaper said the President "wavered" in his decision to fire Trudeau, 54, but that Allen Dulles' plea was backed up by his brother Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

In Washington, one official cited in the story as having taken a principal part in the reported dismissal flatly denied any knowledge of the development or having had any part in it.

This official, Col. Stanley Grogan, a top assistant to CIA Director Dulles, told a newsmen that as far as he knew the copyrighted story is "totally false and untrue in every respect."

The Army announced Aug. 10 that Trudeau would be replaced by Maj. Gen. Ridgely Gaither, who had been in command in the 18th Airborne Corps at Ft. Bragg, N.C., since last May. Trudeau remained on the job at the Pentagon until last week. He is now preparing to leave for the Far East, where his specific assignment will be announced by the Far East Command according to normal custom. Trudeau has been assistant chief of staff for intelligence for two years.

40,000,000 Cars On Holiday Trips

CHICAGO (AP)—Summer's last long weekend lured motoring millions to the highways today.

Other millions traveled by train, airplane, bus and excursion steamer for outings over the three-day Labor Day holiday.

The National Safety Council estimated that 40 million cars will be on the move sometime over the holidays. And, it estimated, 400 will be killed in traffic accidents between 6 p. m. tonight and midnight of Labor Day.

Such a toll would be 15 more than were killed in a comparable nonholiday period of 78 hours surveyed by The Associated Press Aug. 19-22.

Mrs. Carr was in Tipton Wednesday morning making arrangements for the holding of the clinic in Tipton with the committee here, Nelson Stonner and Mrs. Tommy Miller.

The X-ray will be held at Tipton at the city hall all day Thursday, Sept. 15 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and in the evening from 6 to 8 o'clock.

This clinic is known as the National X-ray Survey and is not a mobile unit. The Missouri State X-ray survey is free to the public but being booked ahead the county association could not secure it at this time but having in mind the health of county citizens the national unit is being brought into the county by the local organization and is being paid for out of county TB association funds.

Although only persons 15 years old or over are to be examined free, it is pointed out that any child or children will be examined with the chest X-ray free at the request of either a doctor, a teacher or a member of a welfare agency.

Others over the county who are assisting in the forthcoming project are Mrs. Herman Garnett at Latham and Mrs. Quentin Haldiman, Jamestown.

Miss Leetta Geiger, Jamestown, secretary to Alfred W. Lloyd, county superintendent of schools, will serve as typist, with assistants at each of the places to be visited.

Officials of the TB group in the county besides the president, Mrs. Carr, are Col. Richard Rohrbach, Clarksburg, vice-president; Mrs. Eunice Scott, California, secretary, and Mrs. Vernon Lehman, California, treasurer.

Fire Won't Delay Start of School

A fire Thursday which damaged the custodian's workshop in the grade school building at Windsor, will not delay the opening of school Tuesday, as was hoped for by many students who saw smoke pouring out of the school building.

The fire was believed to have been caused by gasoline fumes being ignited by a water heater in a corner of the workshop. A. W. Oringderff, custodian, was cleaning a mimeograph machine in a corner in a pan of gasoline when there was a flash in the part of the shop where the heater is located.

Charge Assault After Attack On Auto Driver

Charges of assault have been filed in city court against Everett Jackson, 27, a Negro, 121 East Henry, who is in critical condition in the hospital for injuries suffered when he was brushed off of a car at the alley between Pettis and Cooper about 12:10 a. m. Friday morning.

Jackson, according to the police report, was riding on the running board of an old Chevrolet owned and driven by Ollie Whitley, 49, Negro, of 218 East St. Louis Street, striking at Whitley causing him to lose control of the car. The car ran into the telephone pole scraping Jackson from the running board.

Jackson was taken to the hospital where he was treated by Dr. A. R. Maddox for a broken bone in the upper part of the left arm, bone broken in the upper part of the left leg, concussion, bruises, abrasions and lacerations. He was rushed to the hospital in the Ewing ambulance.

The police report indicated the car after striking the pole went over the terrace of a yard and into a shoe shop sign. Police reported Whitley told them that Jackson had got on his car and started beating him as he was driving and causing him to lose control of the machine.

Ollie Whitley was held in the city jail under "protective custody" over Friday morning and released. Whitley Friday morning signed an information for a warrant against Jackson accusing him of assault.

Whitley, according to the police, told the officers that Jackson had a knife and gun. Police reported other witnesses reported they didn't see any knife or gun.

It is a Five-Billion-Dollar Puzzle—

World Will Beat a Path to Door of Man Who Solves America's Farm Surplus Snarl

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world will beat a path to the door of the man who invents a solution to America's problem of farm surpluses.

It is a five-billion-dollar puzzle which has defied solution for nearly 30 years in its modern form.

What is the American farm problem? Its most distressing symptom today is the $5,370,029,000 surplus taken off the farmer's hands by the government. But what's the cause?

"Too much production," says one school.

"Not enough consumption," says another.

If overproduction is the cause, the cure would seem to be in holding down production. The Department of Agriculture tries to do

Pastor Gives Travel Talk To Kiwanis

By personal observation during four trips to the Near East the situation with respect to Israeli, the Arabs and Egypt has deteriorated rather than improved, according to the Rev. David M. Bryan, pastor of the First Christian Church, speaking before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

He returned last Saturday from his recent trip abroad which provided the subject for a talk that was as entertaining as it was instructive. The speaker who also gave the invocation, was introduced by I. H. Reed, program chairman for September.

Vice-President Jack Shoemaker reported on the recent District IV meeting in California, Mo., at which W. Hobart Hill, Marshall, was nominated for lieutenant governor. Members attending this meeting were Shoemaker, William Ward, A. W. Klang, Sylvan Woolery, A. H. Wilks and M. D. Weathers.

Delegates and alternates to the Mo-Ark Convention in Little Rock Oct. 9-11 were elected as follows: President Jack Crawford, Vice-President Jack Shoemaker and Mike Gokaris as delegates; Dr. J. B. Rice, Sylvan Woolery, Herb Seifert, Clarence Carter, M. D. Weathers and Bob Mullen alternates.

The selection was made on recommendation of the nominating committee: William Ward, chairman, Vernon Bingaman, Myron Lindquist, R. A. Malone and John Snodgrass.

President Crawford appointed the annual election committee as follows: Ed McLaughlin, chairman, Dr. Rice, William Jackson, William Hurley and Clyde Heynen.

President Crawford reported that he, Dan Robinson and Myron Lindquist accompanied Fred Leuck and members of the Kiwanis Little League championship ball team to Kansas City to see the Athletics but that the game was called off because of rain. However, they provided other entertainment for the boys.

Club members were treated to cigars by Norman Pitcairn, who is the father of a new daughter, Kerry Jean.

John Sneed, Sr., was introduced by President Crawford as a new Kiwanian. He is a prominent Pettis County farmer.

Club singing was led by Abe Rosenthal, with Miss Lillian Fox as piano accompanist.

H. W. Carter, Detroit, was a guest of his brother, Clarence Carter.

Reed announced that the speaker for next week's program would be Robert T. De Vore, midwest manager, Du Pont Extension Division, a former newspaper and magazine correspondent, who will come from Chicago to talk on "Progress Must Be Created."

this by controlling planting and marketing under laws dating back to and beyond 1933 when the government paid farmers to kill their pigs and plow under their cotton.

Increased consumption is a goal too. The most notable success has been with the dairy surplus. The school lunch program pours tons of milk into schoolchildren who, in many cases, would otherwise have none. Malted-down butter sent India as a gift is accepted as a delicacy.

America's farm laws are aimed at guaranteeing the farmer that, barring some freak of weather or bugs, he can count on a certain minimum return for his crop. That takes much of the guess out of a "by guess and by God" calling.

The laws do not discriminate among farmers. The top two million who produce half the country's farm goods by value get the same treatment as the seven million who turn out 39 per cent, or the 12 million who live on the fringes of starvation.

The Agriculture Department reckons its support of the farmer in terms of purchasing power. It does this with a standard called parity, which one farmer once described this way:

"If you can sell a truckload of wheat and buy with the money as

To Begin Inquest In Socialite's Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Medical examiner Melville J. Aston begins an inquest today in an effort to fix the cause of death of Mrs. Doris Jean Silver Oestreicher, 22-year-old socialite.

The red-haired food chain heiress died nine days ago in the south Philadelphia apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz, whom Mrs. Oestreicher's father said were not acquaintances of his family.

Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash said yesterday her death occurred some time after she had undergone an illegal operation. He said she was expecting a child and that an abortion had occurred. But, he added, "we are unable to tell at this time whether it was a criminal abortion."

with what he called a "bold new plan" for cotton. In essence it was to lower cotton supports from 90 to 80 per cent of parity, increase allotted acreage from 18 million to 23 million acres and sell surplus cotton on the world market at going prices.

Eastland also is pressing for legislation which would raise the standard of cotton eligible for supports. If accepted, that would discourage production of low-grade cotton which makes up the bulk of the U.S. surplus.

Any such talk of pushing U.S. surplus cotton on the world market brings howls from inside the country as well as abroad. Textile firms fear imports of goods made from such low-cost U.S. cotton.

Into The 'Never, Never' Land

Right at the time "Give 'Em Hell" Harry Truman was making himself available for 1956 campaign purposes in behalf of the Democratic party, the former President ups and says he's through with "strenuous campaigning."

This is disheartening because the so-called "one-party" press which he so fanatically belabored during his tenure of office and the last campaign, was beginning to give him predominant headline splashes, just what the captivating campaigner from Independence implied the newspapers never would give him.

But the press told all the mean things Truman was saying about the GOP—and then bang he announces he's through with "strenuous campaigning." Probably he means this in a manner of degree. One can scarcely believe he'll remain silent although there are indications Harry is becoming unpredictable.

For instance, the ex-President said at the Missouri State Fair Country Ham Breakfast in Smith-Cotton cafeteria: "You will never hear me attack the President of the United States personally, but this doesn't prevent any person in the U.S. from disagreeing with the President on policy."

Now then where are we to draw the fine line of distinction between what is personal and what is policy? You'll never get any two people to agree upon the dividing line.

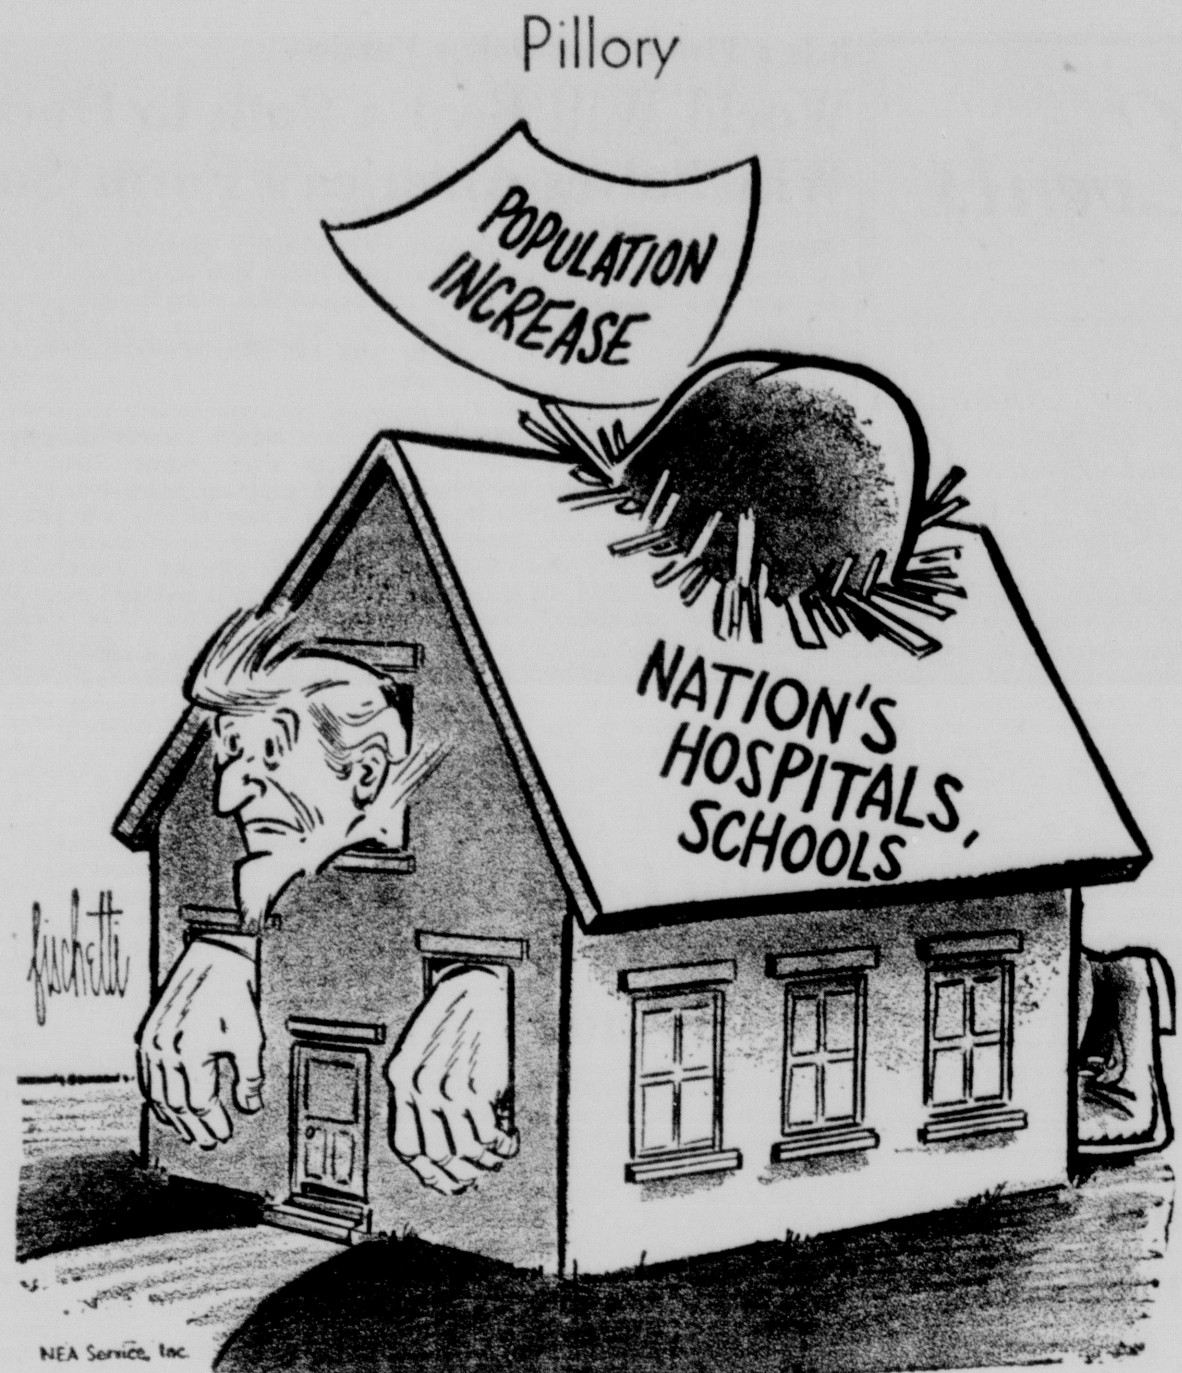

In a no-holds-barred speech at French Lick, Ind., Truman said Eisenhower was guilty of "misrepresentation and demagoguery" ever since the election. He also charged that the President NEVER misses a chance to "befuddle the issues." That's about as broad a superlative as a superlative has a right to be, and comes pretty close to being a personal attack on the President which Truman said he would NEVER make. This appears to be an excursion into the weird "Never, Never Land."

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall classifies Truman's remarks as direct "smears and personal attacks on President Eisenhower," and not close ones.

Thus it is with politics: Truman cries "Eisenhower demagoguery" and Hall roars "Truman is a Hate Monger."

Then all of a sudden rough and ready Truman indicates he's going to put the stopper in his own mouth. We would believe that except Harry is becoming a bit unpredictable since he says one thing at the ham breakfast in Sedalia, Missouri, and indulges himself in contradiction at a health spa in French Lick, Ind.

Look for more zip in the 1956 campaign. The country has not heard the last of former President Harry S. Truman. Whether or not you agree with him—it will be fun.

The World Today—

No Result Reached Yet On Disarmament

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—With complete politeness in the first big test of their good intentions since the Geneva summit conference, the United States and Russia have now talked face to face almost a week about disarmament.

Net result: No solution yet. None in sight. But then, none was expected from this meeting in a subcommittee of the United Nations in New York. A little progress would be pretty good. They still have time to do something.

So far neither the United States nor Russia has bought — nor has either rejected — what the other offered. The closed meeting up to this point has been exploratory. Neither offered anything basically new.

Each was standing on a plan offered previously. This did not necessarily mean they might not agree on some proposals before they finish.

Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's special representative, explained in some detail what Eisenhower had in mind at Geneva when he offered his aerial inspection plan to the Russians. At that time Eisenhower spoke only in general terms.

Arkady A. Sobolev, Russia's chief delegate, listened for most of the week but yesterday he spoke his piece. He wanted to know what the United States had to say about the disarmament plan Russia offered last May.

Reporters got an impression from what he told them later that Russia's answer to the American proposals might depend on the American answer to Russia's plan.

Eisenhower had proposed that the United States and Russia exchange blueprints on their military forces and establishments. Then each would let the other fly over its territory to check its honesty and accuracy from the air.

These were some of the details

Stassen gave the Russians for carrying out the President's idea:

The two countries would exchange information piece by piece, not all at one crack. After each exchange the two sides would check each other. Then, finding they were both honest, they would give each other more information and check on it.

In American planes flying over Russia there would be Russian observers. There would be American observers in Russian planes flying over this country. Both countries could take photographs and use electronic equipment for checking.

In addition each side would let the other send ground observers into its territory. They would be stationed at key points. Their purpose: also to check on the information given and warn if they thought there might be a surprise attack.

Sobolev for his part wanted to know what the United States thought about the proposals made by Russia last May 10, since the United States hasn't given a final reply. The Russians proposed that:

The armed forces of the United States, Russia and Red China be reduced to no more than 1½ million men, those of Britain and France to no more than 650,000, and those of all other nations to a maximum of 200,000.

After an agreed-upon disarmament plan had been carried out 75 per cent, there should be a ban on the use of nuclear weapons except to resist aggression. When disarmament, according to the plan, was complete, all nuclear weapons should be banned completely.

Opposes Gov't On Wheat Overplanting

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A woman charged with overplanting her wheat acreage allotment on a 70-acre dairy farm at nearby Hummelston says she wants to be tried by a jury of farmers.

Miss Elsie Mumma was sued for $403.20 penalties by the federal government yesterday for overplanting of her allotted six acres in 1954.

In denying the overplanting charges, she said wheat she planted in 1954 was used for feed which she would have had to purchase if it were not raised on her farm.

"My ancestors pioneered this land in 1624," she said, "and as long as I own the land, pay the taxes, pay the debts and ask for no aid from the government, the land is mine to have, to hold, to harvest, and no one has a right to enter upon the land without my permission or without a warrant of law. I will fight to defend my right."

As Sedalia Sees It— Political Prognosticators Resort to Mathematics

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Democrat-Capitol
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Political dopesters are brushing up on their arithmetic.

Right now some Democrat Party dopesters are pouring over the election figures of 1952 to find hope or despair for the chances of their 1956 presidential candidate. Unhappily, they recall that in 1952 Adlai Stevenson received fewer electoral votes (89) than Thomas E. Dewey (Republican) received (99) against Roosevelt in 1944 and carried fewer states. . . . nine for Stevenson in 1952, 12 for Dewey in 1944.

More optimistically they view the vote in 11 states of the 48 which gave Eisenhower only 55 percent or less of their popular votes, including such large states as Illinois, Pennsylvania, and Texas.

These 11 states have a total electoral vote of 157. Now if subtracted from the 1952 Republican total and added to the 1952 Democratic total, the GOP victory would be by the narrow margin of 285 to 246.

Then Democrats take a gander at six other states which gave the Republican ticket less than 5 percent. That includes New York (with Democrat Governor) and accounts for 97 electoral votes. Add those 97 to the 246 and the Democrats would win easily 343 to 188.

So the politico-mathematicians come to the conclusion that Eisenhower could win in 1956 even if running a little worse than in 1952, but not if running much worse. Much would depend on where he was the winner. Then, said one Democrat, add the trend-Democratic proven in the 1954 Congressional elections resulting in Democratic control of Congress and "the Republicans will have no push-over even if their best candidate, Eisenhower, decides to run again."

Scientists Test Mind-Reading Machine

(EDITOR'S NOTE — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation his column is being written by members of his staff.)

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — It is still in the secret developmental stage, but electronic scientists are working on a device that will read people's minds.

Dr. Thomas P. Goldsmith, research vice president for Allen B. Du Mont Laboratories, acknowledged to this column that his staff is experimenting with a thought-reading machine. Successful tests, in fact, have already been held.

"We ask someone questions. We can tell what he is getting ready to say even though he may not have said it," Dr. Goldsmith explained.

"It has me a little scared," he added. Stressing that their research is in the early stages, Goldsmith explained that the electronic thought-reading machine is based on somewhat the same principle as the electro-encephalograph, which measures brain waves.

"We are learning about mechanisms of communication between people," he said. "I guess you would say we are investigating the sixth sense."

Asked how he feels about his experiments with electronic mind-reading, he replied: "A little like scientists must have felt on the threshold of discovering atomic energy."

NOTE: Another Du Mont Laboratories spokesman later stressed that a thought-reading machine is a long way off. He estimated that the laboratories probably would issue no formal news on their discoveries for another five years.

Truman's Grudge Against Nixon
Inside reason ex-President Truman called off his political barnstorming trip to California is that he's sore at oil millionaire Ed Pauley.

Truman was supposed to be the featured attraction at a Democratic fund-raising dinner that Pauley is promoting in Los Angeles. The former president was all fired up to invade California when he heard Pauley had entertained Vice President Nixon.

If there's one man Truman can't stand, it's the GOP vice-president. Truman snorted angrily that he wouldn't be the guest of anyone who licks Nixon's boots.

A dozen big Democrats, including Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, begged Truman to reconsider. But the ex-President, who is sometimes stubborn as a Missouri mule, would not budge.

Guest Editorial—

DENVER POST: Tweedle-Dee-Junk. Even as the late, great Ring Lardner in his time, we find ourselves growing tune-toughy . . . what gripes us more each time it's repeated on radio, juke box or TV is that simpering little jumble of hogwash called "Tweedley, Tweedley, Tweedle-Dee." . . .

Some of you oldsters may recall that Ring Lardner's pet peeve among the juke ballads was Cole Porter's Night-and-Day thing, "I've Got You Under My Skin." . . . He raved on by the column, cursing out the whole song. But what dug him the most was the rhyme about that "yearning, burning deep down inside of me" which gets "under the hide of me."

Poor old Ring! He wanted songs to have a little dignity about 'em. We're glad he doesn't have to wince with us at the baby-talk rhyme tricks of the Tweedley song. They're enough to make Mother Goose herself blush.

We don't object to rhyming "tweedle dee" with "as can be," or "tweedle-dum" with "sugar plum." But when the switch runs to "tweedle-dot" in order to rhyme with "gimme all the love you've got," our gorge begins to rise. Each time we hear that song we feel a glaze forming over the eyes, and a hum-happy spasm coming on:

Tweedle-ditto-ditto dunk,
Song-rhymes now are merely junk.
Hubba, hubba, summer and fall,
The fool things never make sense at all,
Tweedle-tweedle-tweedle, BAH!

have been highly out of character for the conservative Republican.

At congressional power hearings, Hoffman was taking his usual stand that low-cost power from federal dams is just another giveaway.

"I might say," interrupted subcommittee counsel James Lanigan, "that we have another witness, as you know, from the National Rural Electric Cooperatives Association — Mr. Ellis."

"Yes, I know him," snorted Hoffman. "We all have many letters from him. He not only wants the electric power for electric lights and all that, he wants us to manufacture the bulbs, set up the telephone poles and creosote the ends. He wants the REA to go into all business."

"I am in favor of all that, too, just before election," added Hoffman slyly.

When the stenographer's transcript came to Hoffman's office for corrections, he thought twice about being "in favor of all that, too, just before election." He used a heavy lead pencil to censor out his confession that he is a public power advocate around election time. Secret Report Aims Charges

The general accounting office, Uncle Sam's bookkeeping agency, wants to know why the Air Force is paying an estimated $24,000 apiece for radio transmitter-receivers that the Navy is buying for $5,900.

A confidential investigator's report charges that the Air Force's ARC-21 signal unit is almost identical with the Navy's ARC-38, yet the Air Force is paying four times the Navy price.

The confidential report further declares: "Investigation indicates that many of the (Air Force) sets, which have been installed in aircraft, have been removed and replaced with other equipment to keep the aircraft operational, and that the performance of the set has been so completely unsatisfactory that at least one major command (MATS) already has secured approval to change over to more conventional and less costly equipment, and two other major commands, which account for the bulk of the progressed equipment, are considering changing over."

"Preliminary investigation indicates that the initial production contract for the ARC-21 was let, notwithstanding the fact that the developmental work had not been completed; and that the Air Force has persisted with increases in the production contracts notwithstanding the failure of developmental prototypes to pass Air Force tests and the opinion of certain Air Force personnel, including the project engineer for the equipment, that it may take two to five years of additional research and development to perfect it."

NOTE: The troublesome ARC-21 was produced by the Radio Corporation of America. In fact, the Air Force had so much trouble with the equipment in India that it had to fly RCA technicians to India to make repairs.

German Unification

The French, the British and the Russians have been closer to the Prussian ruthlessness than this country and it is natural they should be more reluctant to see Germany become again a strong power. Through the influence of NATO and the attitudes of the Adenauer government, the Western powers have agreed that a united Germany will benefit European security but the Russians are not convinced a united Germany will benefit them.

The meeting at the summit left that important question to be taken up by the ministers. What policy will be decided at the Kremlin to be projected at that meeting of the ministers — remains to be seen. President Eisenhower and his colleagues did not press that subject at Geneva, but Adenauer and all Germany still hope for unification.

Thought for Today

For I will punish them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have punished Jerusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence. — Jeremiah 44:13.

The object of punishment is, prevention from evil; it never can be made impulsive to good.—Horace Mann.

Sunday School Lesson Notes:

By William E. Gilroy, D.D.

When the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, the work of a large group of eminent scholars, was published a short time ago the event was hailed with widespread publicity, and great demand for the new translation was the immediate result.

I wish that a similar amount of publicity could be given to a new, pictorial edition of the New Testament, issued by the American Bible Society under the title, "The Good News." It uses the King James Version, except in a number of sections where asterisks indicate the use of the Revised Standard Version. What is unique about it is the mass and quality of the information it contains, and the light that its 566 photographs, 9 maps, and 6 diagrams pour upon the New Testament story, and the Epistles.

My first reaction to the modern "picture book" was somewhat hesitant. I wondered whether pictorial illustrations could add much to the beauty of the New Testament itself; in fact I wondered whether they might not detract from the simple beauty of the narrative sections and parables. But as I looked into the book I saw how everything had been enriched and enhanced. Pictures and information about places, customs, events, and historical environment, and about the details of daily life, all helped to impart understanding and appreciation of the New Testament text.

This new edition, which is very correctly described as "a milestone in the printing and distribution of the New Testament," is the result of over five years of planning and research by Dr. Gilbert Darlington, Treasurer of the American Bible Society.

In my long experience as parish minister, journalist and book reviewer, I cannot recall anything that has seemed to me so near perfection in conception and execution.

And except for the fact that the Society is a nonprofit organization, it could never have been produced for the low price at which it is offered.

A large book, 8x11 inches, it is for home and family, and supplements rather than takes the place of the small testaments that the Society has distributed in vast quantities. During the years when my eyesight was equal to the very smallest type I carried a tiny New Testament in my vest pocket. I recommend that practice to all who can so read, or a small one of the little larger type for those who require it.

So equipped, with this pictorial and informative New Testament handy for reference, readers of today have advantages over those of a former generation. It will give a new note of realism to every New Testament page.

Recently, I have been writing of the Exile of the Jews to Babylon. Now has come the return from the Exile, and the beginning of the long period of the Jews in their homeland between the Old Testament and the New.

It began with the triumph and glory recorded in the Books of Ezra and Nehemiah, but days of dire persecution and tragedy were ahead. The Grecian conquest was to come and the building of Alexandria with its large colony of Greek-speaking Jews was to have great religious importance. Out of it came the Septuagint, the Greek translation of the Scriptures. It was the Bible of the Greek-speaking world in the time of Jesus and the Apostles, and it was to play a large part in later versions of the Bible.

Sedalia Loses B-J Playoffs In Three Straight Thursday

Local Tribe Drops Final Contest 10-7 at Jefferson City Last Night

THE BASEBALL SEASON IS OVER—for local teams. Thursday night at Jefferson City the Chiefs dropped their third straight game in the championship series 10-7. But in taking the loss they came back into their old spirit and their playing would have made any of the local fans proud.

With a short lineup hampering the Chiefs again Manager Russ Gilmore, added three new players from the Babe Ruth League all of whom saw action in the final game.

The Chiefs hammered out 11 hits to match the Jeff City club as Bobby Case led the local tribe in hits with three for three. Jim Fall also starred in the hitting department with a two run homer in the eighth.

The story of the Chiefs this year has been one of ups and downs and finally down and out. The local boys led off in the season with a spiritless team which could not chuck away a victory due to a great amount of errors they were making in the field. Then they got a new manager and several of their players from the last year returned to the lineup and the local aggregation started an "up-hill climb." During the last half of the season the Chiefs won 15 straight games and took the second half pennant, which gave them the opportunity to fight it out with the Jefferson City Bears, who won the first half pennant, for the season championship.

While the playoff was on the Chiefs dropped their first game at Jefferson City 12-11 in a game that took all the fighting skill the local tribe had as they were held down by a limited lineup due to the fact several of their regular players were unable to remain with the team. The second game brought the Chiefs a 13-2 loss at the home park, for which they were seriously berated by this publication for a lack of spirit, which they exhibited on the field Wednesday night.

But in the final game with three new players to patch the lineup the old crew regained their spirit and though they went down for the third and last time they proved themselves good sportsmen who could continue the required pace in face of overwhelming odds.

The Chiefs went down three straight in the top of the first frame Thursday and then proceeded to retire the Bears in the same order.

The top of the second saw the first Chief tally registered as Jim Fall scored on a single by Billy Arnold after walking.

The Bears failed to retaliate in the bottom of the second and neither of the clubs scored in the third.

Fall scored the second Chief run in the top of the fourth as he once again walked and was forced in to score as the next three took bases on balls also.

The Bears failed to tally again in the bottom of the fourth and the Chiefs led 2-0.

The fifth inning was a hard one for the Chiefs as they were retired with one man on base and no score.

The Bears then started a rally which netted them six runs and forced Clyde Kubli, who started for the Chiefs to switch positions with Elroy Burton, in center field.

Houser the first Bear up in the sixth, singled and was brought in on a single by Kemmer. Kemmer scored also and was followed across home plate by Vanderlicht, Kennedy, Cavender and Tobin.

The Chiefs came back in the sixth showing their fighting spirit pushing two runs across the plate as Barbour singled, Arnold walked and both men scored on a single by Newman.

The Bears chalked up two during the sixth also, as Burton was injured and had to be relieved by Kubli from center, Bryan went in for Kubli at center. Gabler led off the inning with a single and was able to score on a wild pitch as Kemmer followed with a single and was scored on a double by Vanderlicht.

The Chiefs came back for one in the seventh as Mines singled and was scored on a double by Barbour.

The Bears tallied their final two runs of the game in the seventh as Casey, the Pitcher, singled followed by Houser with a single. Both men scored on a double by Gabler.

The Chiefs rallied for two runs in the eighth as Fall blasted a homer with Bryan on base on a fielder's choice.

The Bears were held scoreless in the bottom of the eighth and the Chiefs let the ninth die with one man on to give up the game 10-7.

With the season over the Chiefs have experienced the bottom place and at the last of the year, the top, next season they will have the same lineup with the exception of two pitchers, Billy Arnold and "Skip" Schulz.

Cards Remain In Nosedive To the Bottom

CHICAGO (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals show no signs of pulling out of a nosedive that threatens to carry them to their first cellar finish since 1918, or two years before Stan Musial was born.

The confused Redbirds found themselves just 2½ games out of the basement today upon arriving in Chicago to face the Cubs where they had been beaten in seven of eight games this season.

At Pittsburgh yesterday, the last-place but currently hot Pirates came from behind to whip the Cards 7-6 and complete a sweep of the three-game series.

Whereas the Cardinals have now lost 12 of their last 15 games, the Pirates have won six straight and are rapidly overtaking them.

A single by Gene Freese in the last of the ninth, off Mel Wright, beat the Cards yesterday.

A three-run double by rookie Ramon Mejias knocked out Cardinal starter Luis Arroyo in the third. It was Arroyo's ninth effort at winning his 12th game.

Cardinal Manager Harry Walker benched Alex Grammas and started Ken Boyer at shortstop. Utility man Solly Hemus replaced Boyer at third. The injured Musial was back on full-time duty in right field, and Pete Whisenant started in left field in place of Rip Repulski.

The Kansas City A's, idle yesterday, play Detroit tonight in Kansas City.

The opening games pit Monett Frisco against Humansville and Mountain Grove Hardware against Joplin Local 200.

Teams drawing first round byes were Oran Eagles, St. Joseph Blackie's, Collins Athletic club, St. Joseph Goetz, Sedalia Jaycees, Jefferson City Young Democrats and the Springfield Tastemakers.

Baseball Roundup—

Few Changes During August For the Pennant Race Clubs

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

For all the huffin' and puffin' they did during August, the three leading contenders for the American League pennant might just as well have taken a month's rest. It just didn't do 'em no good, no how.

For the past 32 days, Chicago, Cleveland and New York (all idle yesterday) have been scraping to a standstill. Going into the final 3½ weeks of the season today, they're practically in the same spot they were Aug. 1.

On that date Chicago was in first place with a .614 percentage. Cleveland and New York trailed with .603, each one game behind. Today Chicago leads with a .608 percentage. Cleveland and New York half a game behind, are tied for second with .603.

And with Chicago's Marty Marion and Cleveland's Al Lopez agreeing all the way, Yank Manager Casey Stengel says it's just "too awful even."

"All I know is," says Casey, "that we have 23 more to play and must win 18 to make sure. I realize that's 97 wins, but that's what it will take. I thought before it could be done with 94."

The Yanks were in the best position to get off quick on their way to 97. They opened a home stand this afternoon with the Washington Senators, whom they've beaten 11 times in 16, while the White Sox and Tribe go at each other in the first game of a four-game series at Cleveland tonight. The Sox and Indians are 8-8 for the season.

The only action yesterday was in the National League, where Brooklyn made the most of seven hits to thump Milwaukee 6-3; Cincinnati defeated New York 7-4; and Pittsburgh again edged St. Louis 7-6.

The Brooks got their hits in the third and fifth innings to score their runs. Roy Campanella singled home two runs and scored another as Brooklyn trimmed the magic number to 10—a combination of 10 Dodger victories and Milwaukee defeats gives the Brooks the flag.

Joe Nuxhall won his 15th—most by a Cincy hurler since Ewell Blackwell won 16 in 1951—while seven-hitting the Giants. He gave up two homers to Dusty Rhodes and one to Al Dark, but drove home two runs himself while Chuck Harmon batted in four with a home run and a single.

Holden Plays Ausco Tonight In NBC Tilt

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—The Huntsville, Ala. Packers, who came to the National Nonprofessional Baseball Tournament without fanfare, take on the defending champion Wichita Boeing Bombers tonight.

The two clubs are the only unbeaten teams still in the double-elimination meet.

Huntsville surprised the St. Joseph, Mich. Auscos last night, upsetting them, 4-1. It was St. Joseph's first loss. The Michigan club, seeded No. 1, and Wichita have been co-favorites to win the title.

In other games last night, Sinton, Tex. Oilers blanked the Midland, Pa. U. S. Steel Workers Union 12-1 team, 5-0, and North Platte, Neb. trounced Middletown, Ind., 6-1. The defeats eliminated Midland and Middletown.

The 32-team tournament opened Aug. 19 and will wind up next Monday or Tuesday.

Tonight's schedule:

5:30—St. Joseph, Mich. Auscos vs. Holden, Mo. (fifth round, loser eliminated).

8—Huntsville, Ala. vs. Wichita Boeing (fifth round).

10—Peoria, Ill. Caterpillars vs. Milwaukee, Wis. Fisks (fifth round, loser eliminated).

Wilkinson's Football Factory Cinch To Turn Up Champs

Oklahoma Probably Will Play in Bowl As Midwest Delegate

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson's amazing football factory is considered almost a cinch to turn out its eighth straight championship model at Oklahoma.

You can't get an argument in the sprawling midlands that Oklahoma won't again nab the Big Seven banner and represent the conference in the Orange Bowl next Jan. 1.

The Oklahoma front office mentions prominently the loss of two All Americans—center Kurt Burris and end Max Boydston—and numerous other stars of 1954 by graduation. But the fact remains the Sooners annually lose great football players and Wilkinson turns to the production line belt to come up with sufficient talent to make a successful battle for both regional and national honors.

Wilkinson says he can't possibly field as strong a first team as last season when the Sooners won all ten of their games and rated third in the Associated Press poll. He admits, though, that the squad could be a little deeper.

"We might do okay after we get a few games under the belt," Wilkinson commented, "but we likely will have tough sledding in our first three with North Carolina, Pittsburgh and Texas. We have to replace ends, centers and rebuild our backfield."

Barring unforeseen disaster, Bo Bolinger, 206 pound senior tackle, could easily be an All America candidate.

Jimmy Harris, a junior quarterback, halfback Bob Burris and fullback Billy Prier each figure prominently in the Sooners' backfield. A sophomore, Clendon Thomas, could win a starting half.

If Oklahoma should happen to falter, the Colorado Buffaloes are given the best chance of winning the title. Nebraska, which finished second last season and lost to Duke in the Orange Bowl, doesn't figure at this point.

Everybody else in the league is expected to improve although Missouri could have trouble equalling its 3-2-1 conference record of 1954. Iowa State appears definitely on the upgrade under Coach Vince Dufresnes; Kansas expects to start moving in its second season under Chuck Mather, and Kansas State will be working the first time under Coach Bus Mertes.

Coach Dallas Ward's Colorado club may develop the strongest line in the league, headed by Sam Salerno, a powerful and fast 225 pound senior guard. The Buffs have to replace their great half-back combination of Carroll Hardy and Frank Bernardi, however, and how good a job is done will determine Colorado's extent of success.

A glance at the others (in order of their expected finish): Missouri—Don Faurot is minus an experienced quarterback and the Tigers will depend on junior Jimmy Hunter, converted half, to move the Split-T. The Tigers look tough at tackles with Al Portney, senior, and Frank Czapl, a sophomore from St. Louis.

Kansas State—Mertes likes fullback Doug Roether, quarter back Whitehead, and center Jim Fury, among others. Will need rapid development from sophomores to give squad strength.

Iowa State—DiFrancesca starts second leg on rebuilding program. The freshman crop was excellent last fall and only 3 or 4 of the 18 returning lettermen are expected to make the first team. Jack Hansen, 181, sophomore halfback from Omaha, could be a sensation.

Nebraska—Coach Bill Glasford lost 8 top candidates due to dismissal for such things as a "pantie raid," loss to the service and ineligibility. The talent isn't in sight.

Michigan State football teams have scored 100 or more points four different times in their gridiron history, the last being an even 100 against Ripon in 1931.

SCHOOL STARTS SOON!

NEW YORK (AP)—Pause a moment and ask yourself, "Am I tired of The $64,000 Question?" If you find asking the question embarrassing you're probably suffering from something — let's call it sociopressure — or, just old-fashioned social pressure.

This disease, which has not yet been analyzed on Meade, is as prevalent in humans as among sheep. In its most virulent form the human victim not only keeps on doing what everybody else is doing after he has ceased to enjoy it; he suffers embarrassment at questioning his participation in the massive drift of the flock. The social pressures of The $64,000 Question have become terrific. It's printed and proclaimed everywhere these days that everybody is tuning to CBS-TV Tuesday evenings to see the program. No other TV show has created so much talk and news. It has spread from newspapers to magazines, inspired a popular song, and caused pundits to dredge it for social significance. It is, in short, at that stage where it appears as critically unassailable as home and mother.

Well, what fool would attack it? It's a pleasant, suspenseful program in which eager contestants try to win as much as $32,000. Its sponsors are perfectly sincere about offering $64,000, but all contestants thus far have realized they'd make only about $13,000 more after taxes on that last big question—and they've quit while still ahead. Several weeks ago I wrote that nobody ever will go for that $64,000. I still believe it. If one ever does, I shall salaam and recant properly.

Personally, I'm a little tired of

The $64,000 Question. Nothing I can put my finger on. Just slight ennui, such as eventually came with miniature golf and canasta. Perhaps it's a case of emotional exhaustion at watching other people win money. In any event, the program's Golden Age of Mrs. Catherine Kreitzer and Gino Prato is slipping from me and I can't quite recapture the old excitement over whether Marine Capt. Richard McCutcheon will go for the $32,000 next Tuesday.

Sentenced to School

BALTIMORE (AP)—Joseph Knox, 16, was sentenced yesterday in Criminal Court to serve two years in school.

Knox pleaded guilty to a store burglary. Probation officials said he was anxious to return to school. Judge Joseph L. Carter said a suspended two-year prison sentence would become effective if Knox failed to continue his education while on two-year probation. Stolen in the burglary were some cans of pineapple juice and several books.

Dog-less Miss Worries

READING, Pa. (AP)—Miss Pennsylvania of 1955 may be wearing a frown on her pretty face at next week's Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N.J. Miss Pam Ulrich said yesterday her mongrel dog Duffy was missing and added, "I'd be much happier during the contest if I knew Duffy was safe at home."

Miss Betty Ann Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Cox, Route 2, Cole Camp, will be among the graduates of the School of Nursing at Trinity Lutheran Hospital, Kansas City at commencement exercises on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 4. Miss Cox will receive her diploma after three years of study in the 50-year-old Kansas City institution. She is a graduate of Cole Camp High School. Miss Cox has accepted an offer from her alma mater, and will begin her professional career as a graduate nurse on the staff of Trinity Lutheran Hospital.

No Cats, No Teeth

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—An 83-year-old woman told police yesterday someone entered her house and stole her two cats and the false teeth which she had left in a cup.

Eyes Have It, Says Starlet Cleo Moore

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Any male who meets shapely Cleo Moore in a secluded cocktail lounge and then talks for an hour or two about other movie stars' eyes would have to be a real square.

Well, Cleo told this square that Hollywood's overemphasis on busts and cheesecake is passe and terribly misplaced when it comes to evaluating sex appeal.

"It isn't the shape a star is in that counts," Cleo confided. "The sex appeal message is in the eyes." She cited examples:

It isn't Jane Russell's obvious physical endowments that made her a top movie siren, she said. "It's those smouldering eyes."

Marlon Brando is Jane's counterpart in the male eyes department, Cleo said.

Robert Mitchum and Ava Gardner both have "shopping eyes," sometimes known as "roving eyes."

"When these two look at you, brother, you know the merchandise has been carefully inspected."

A star needn't have sultry eyes to get over sex appeal, Cleo argues.

"June Allyson is not thought of as an obviously sexy star. But when she opens wide those big, baby-blue eyes, you know every guy in the place is going to fall apart."

Even Marilyn Monroe, according to Cleo, has said more with half-closed eyelids than she has with the famous wiggle.

Of course, Cleo admits that only a woman would notice the Monroe eyes.

Gary Cooper is one of the most durable of all Hollywood box office stars despite little publicity and a stoic style of acting.

"Cooper never has to open his mouth with those dreamy eyes. The girls all say 'Yup' for him," Cleo said.

Burt Lancaster is another box office king with eye appeal.

"Sure, he's built like Superman and he's got X-ray eyes too — sees right through all of us girls."

Cleo got off on the eye bit because of censor trouble on one of her movies, "Hold Back Tomorrow." After much hassle, the production code finally awarded it a seal.

"It was not the obvious physical attractions that caused the trouble. Many of the scenes cut were closeups which showed only my eyes. See what I mean?"

Mississippi Elections To Be Probed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Att. Gen. Brownell promises to take "immediate and vigorous action" if he finds that Negro rights were violated in Mississippi's Democratic primary elections last month.

But two Mississippi leaders have indicated they don't think anything wrong will be found.

Brownell disclosed late yesterday FBI agents are already conducting an investigation.

"Reports indicate," he said, "that in some counties Negroes were refused ballots when they allegedly failed to answer correctly several irrelevant and frequently illegal questions."

"In other counties the indications are that ballots cast by Negroes were apparently not counted and that Negroes were kept from the polls by threats and intimidation."

Tom Tubb, chairman of the Mississippi Democratic Executive Committee, which conducted the elections, said Brownell "has a perfect right to investigate. Not that he'll find anything, though."

And Atty. Gen. J. P. Coleman, who won the Democratic nomination for governor, said he knew of "no violation of anybody's civil rights in connection with Mississippi primaries. My services as attorney general will be used to the limit in vindication of Mississippi's good name."

Coleman won the nomination for governor, equivalent to election in the southern state, in a runoff.

State Vehicles Passing Pickets At McKay Agency

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Gov. Paul Patterson told a union spokesman yesterday he was powerless to do anything about state-owned vehicles crossing the picket line at Secretary of the Interior McKay's automobile agency here.

Milo Holt, business agent of the Salem Local, AFL International Assn. of Machinists, complained to Patterson about state cars ignoring picket lines at the McKay firm and two other automobile agencies. Machinists went on strike last month at the three places after a breakdown in negotiations for new contracts.

The governor told Holt that purchase and servicing of cars were handled through bids, and that contracts must be fulfilled despite labor disputes.

Holt said, "We've had trouble with McKay every year since the plant was organized, except in 1949 when he signed the 1948 contract."

He repeated a union charge that McKay, who resigned as governor of Oregon in 1953 to enter President Eisenhower's Cabinet, practiced "1900-style labor practices."

Wayne E. Hadley, McKay's son-in-law, has been president of the agency since McKay went to Washington. He said McKay remains the majority stockholder, as required under terms of the secretary's franchise for the agency, but that McKay no longer takes part in management of the firm.

New Look for Navy

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The Navy's ships of the future will bear no resemblance to the fighting ships of today, says Navy Secretary Thomas.

"The conventional guns on the cruisers will be gone," he told the Armed Services Committee of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce yesterday. "The cruisers will be armed with guided missiles. Jet seaplanes will have a terrific future, for they will be able to travel anywhere in the world."

primary contest Aug. 23. More than 360,000 votes were cast for him and his opponent Paul Johnson. It is not known how many of Mississippi's 22,000 registered Negro voters voted in the Aug. 23 runoff or in the original primary a month ago.

College Education Good Investment, Says Census Bureau

WASHINGTON (AP)—How much is a college education worth in cold cash?

On the average, $91,000, two Census Bureau officials reported today to the annual meeting of the American Sociological Society.

Paul C. Glick and Herman P. Miller said:

"Over a lifetime, the average college graduate can expect to receive about $100,000 more income than the average high school graduate. Since the direct and indirect costs of the college education are roughly estimated at $9,000, it is concluded that a college education represents a sound investment from a purely monetary view point."

The census men cautioned, however, that a college degree is no guarantee of higher earnings. They said about one-fourth of all college graduates earn less than high school graduates in the same age group.

A BPWC 'International Meeting'—

Mrs. L. N. Elkin Recounts
A Charming Stay in Japan

The mannerisms and facial expressions of Mrs. L. N. Elkin added greatly to her interesting talk on "Japanese Manners and Customs." Her talk of her experiences, filled with facts and humor, was given Thursday evening at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club at Bothwell Hotel.

Mrs. Elkin, who stresses the high qualities of being trustworthy and good manners of the Japanese people, went to Japan where her husband was then stationed, and lived in a straw house among them. They were generous and friendly, said Mrs. Elkin, and brought to their new American neighbors rice cakes, which the Elkin family could not eat. But the rice cakes were deeply appreciated, nevertheless, because they represented a sharing of their hard-to-get food.

As soon as she could, Mrs. Elkin entertained the neighbor women with a tea and having invited them went to the door smilingly beckoning them to come in—but when they saw her they turned and walked away. It was her Japanese maid who straightened things out for the bewildered Mrs. Elkin. The beckoning to the Japanese meant to go away so the maid had to follow the women and explain things, inviting them all back.

Mrs. Elkin tried to learn her Japanese from the Sears Roebuck catalog but finally went to a school which made it easier. Her electrical appliances were a curiosity to the Japanese people, as were the American people themselves. The house in which they lived had about 50 tiny windows, she said, and all through the day were small Japanese noses pressed against the glass of the windows watching the life of the strange people who sat in chairs, slept in beds, ate with forks and had many queer things.

The noise of the vacuum cleaner frightened them and they were curious about her bathing her new baby, Mrs. Elkin said. There was a bit of difficulty in how to do things, Mrs. Elkin found, until she made an agreement with the women of the neighborhood that when they came to her house they would sit on chairs and eat American food. When she went to their house she would sit on the floor, eat their food and observe all the Japanese customs. This, she found, worked fine.

Her small boy, who had lots of toys and grew up in America where youngsters fuss over who will have which toy, found himself without playmates when he tried his American attitude, consequently he quickly learned to share what he had. Within a week he was playing with the Japanese children getting along all right. They were talking to him in Japanese and he was answering in English.

In eating, the customs are very different, Mrs. Elkin said, and she learned to eat with chopsticks. She ate her one piece of raw fish because she had it in chopsticks, it was slipping and she didn't know what else to do with it. They slurp in drinking tea which might be impolite in America but which is good manners in Japan and they practically inhale their ice cream in the same manner, Mrs. Elkin said.

When she had a birthday party for her son, with napkins and favors she had had her mother send her from America, the Japanese youngsters knew some kind of a gift was needed so the little American boy received from the Japanese children six dozen eggs. His mother was very pleased because that meant they had brought him the most valuable thing they had.

You never shake hands in Japan, you bow, said Mrs. Elkin, and when a younger woman bows to an older one she is careful not to straighten up until the older woman has straightened up. Imagine over here in America one woman saying to another one, "You're older than I am," through a bow or any other way, she said.

For a wedding the color is black, said Mrs. Elkin, and the bride wears a big wig to hide her horns, because all women have horns, but she doesn't let her husband see them until after they are married. The next day she starts to work. When a woman becomes too old to work she does all the praying for the family and the church-going. Children are taught to respect their parents she said, and there is practically no juvenile delinquency. The Japanese people, she told the group, have peace of mind, they are kind, courteous and clean—if we remember that, she said, maybe we will, also, someday have peace of mind.

Mrs. Elkin was introduced by Miss Kay Noyes. The International Relations Committee, of which Mrs. W. G. Borne' is chairman, was in charge of the meeting and introduced Judith Blythin from England who will attend Smith-Cotton this year as American Field Service Exchange Student, sponsored by the Sedalia AAUW. She was presented by Mrs. Philip McLaughlin in whose home she is residing.

It was truly an international meeting with Miss Hazel Palmer, first vice-president of the National Business and Professional Women's Club, giving the highlights of her recent trip to Europe where she attended the International BPWC board meeting held in Geneva, Switzerland. It was the silver jubilee celebration and although the quite large American delegation did not receive any special recognition in anyway, Miss Palmer said the Americans were very well received everywhere they went by the people and were often told, "We like the Americans, you make us happy—you laugh."

The decorations also carried out the international idea with small globes of the world on each table.

Gangland Deaths
May Be Allied
To Dope Traffic

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A Senate Narcotics Investigating subcommittee has shown an interest in recent gangland killings on the theory the rash of missing or bullet-riddled gangsters may have a tie-in with the international narcotics traffic.

Tarrant County Sheriff Harlon Wright offered the same suggestion.

Wright said last night gangsters Leroy Eggleston, Cecil Green and Edell Evans were believed involved in three rackets—dope, prostitution and gambling.

He said he had indications each had moved into the other's fields and someone's business was being hurt.

Eggleston's body was fished from a well north of here Wednesday night. The 49-year-old mobster had been blasted with a shotgun.

A search failed to turn up any sign of missing gambler Edell Evans, whose bloodstained car was found April 3.

and little paper figures of girls of different lands in costumes.

Al Domingue gave several vocal selections and his first number, too, fit in with the occasion, an Irish favorite, "Mother Machree." He then sang "Melody of Love" and "Make Believe."

Guests introduced were: Mrs. Ena Killingsworth, Mrs. Elma Connell of Chicago, Mrs. Gussie Petree, Miss Nancy Cook, Miss Charlene Laudenberger, Miss Sandra McLaughlin, Miss Jane Thomas, Mrs. Georgia Maloney and Miss Mary Alice McLaughlin.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Anna Bagby, with invocation by Miss Eugenia Arnold. Mrs. Ruth Riley led the group singing with Miss Doris Stott at the piano.

Announcements were made of the Fall Conference to be held Sept. 23 at Eldon by Mrs. Everett Stumpf and of the Regional Convention to be held in Oklahoma City on Oct. 13, 14, 15 and 16 by Mrs. J. F. Schumacher.

Actor Jess Barker
Involved in Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 25-year-old actress charges that actor Jess Barker, 41, estranged husband of Susan Hayward, is the father of the child she expects in December. Miss Yvonne Doughty asks the court to order Barker to pay $1,000 immediately for her hospitalization and support later for the child.

The complaint, filed yesterday, asserts that Barker fathered the child last February or March.

Miss Doughty appeared with Marlon Brando in the film "The Wild One."

Through his attorney, Barker denied the paternity charges as "absolutely false."

Agree To Quit Firing Providing Egypt Stops Military Attacks First; 61 Killed In Last 9 Days

Probe Called Into Slaying Of Negro Boy

Kidnaped After Allegedly Whistling At White Woman

GREENWOOD, Miss., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The governor of Mississippi today called for a complete investigation of the kidnap-killing of a bubble-gum-chewing Negro youth who allegedly wolf-whistled at a white woman.

Gov. Hugh White told newsmen, "Mississippi deplors such conduct on the part of any of its citizens and certainly can not condone it."

In a telegram to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in New York, the governor said: "Parties charged with the murder are in jail. I have every reason to believe that the court will do their duty in prosecution."

Killed After Taken From Home
A bullet behind the ear killed 15-year-old Emmitt Louis Till soon after he was taken early Sunday morning from the tenant farm home of his uncle Mose Wright.

The kidnaping came a few hours after Till was reported to have whistled the two notes of the wolf call at Mrs. Roy Bryant, wife of a white storekeeper near Money, Miss., deep in the delta plantation country.

The storekeeper and his half-brother, J. W. Milam of Glendora, Miss., are held in Leflore County jail in connection with the kidnaping and slaying.

Authorities issued a kidnap warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Bryant, who was not at her Money home today.

Tells Of Wolf-Whistle Incident
A 16-year-old cousin of the dead boy, Maurice Wright, told newsmen today about the incident which preceded Till's death. He said the Chicago youth wolf-whistled at Mrs. Bryant when a group of Negro lads went to the store for bubble-gum.

"When he came out of the store, 'I told him, 'Boy, you know better than that.' He just laughed."

Maurice said later, when two or three white men and a white woman came to his father's home, Mose Wright pleaded with the kidnapers not to take Emmitt away.

"Just take him out in the yard and whip him and I'll be satisfied," the uncle said.

Bryant has maintained to authorities that he released the boy later.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Lee C. Richards, former real estate dealer of suburban Clayton who was charged Monday with embezzling $17,050, surrendered today and was released under $5,000 bond. He waived preliminary hearing.

Richards, who had been living recently in Miami, Fla., was bound over for trial in circuit court.

Prosecuting Atty. Edward W. Garnholz said Richards accepted the $17,050 from a woman to whom he gave some papers he misrepresented as deeds of trust on a building.

PERONISTAS MASS NEAR GOVERNMENT HOUSE—Pro-Peron demonstrators mass near Government House in Buenos Aires to protest the offered resignation of Juan D. Peron as president of Argentina. Employees Also Get Wage Hike—

Chrysler Corp. Agrees To Layoff Pay Plan For Its 139,000 Workers

DETROIT, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Chrysler Corp. agreed today to a layoff pay plan for its 139,000 employees, completing establishment of the pattern for a three-year term in the industry's "Big Three," builders of 95 per cent of the nation's automobiles.

General Motors Corp. and the Ford Motor Co. signed similar contracts in June. Before the new agreements the three paid an average of about $2.10 hourly.

Auto Workers Get Union Shop
Besides the layoff pay plan and wage increases ranging up to 38 cents an hour, the latter for highly skilled workers, the Chrysler agreement gives the CIO United Auto Workers a union shop. The union got a similar concession from GM this year. Ford has operated as a union shop since its first UAW contract.

The Chrysler-UAW pact snuffed out strikes in six states which started six hours earlier, but which affected relatively few workers. The company's Chrysler, DeSoto, Dodge and Plymouth divisions are down for model changeovers. Picketing started at midnight. The agreement came at 6 a. m.

Trouble With Independents
While new contracts held promise of labor peace for the "big three" for the next three years, there was trouble between the union and the industry's independents—Studebaker-Packard and American Motors.

UAW workers in Studebaker division plants of Studebaker-Packard walked out on strike at South Bend, Ind., today, refusing to extend their contract which expired last midnight. They refused day-to-day extension during negotiations as recommended by local union leaders.

Nine thousand were idled at South Bend. It was the first official strike against Studebaker in more than 23 years.

It was the first union-authorized strike at Studebaker since the UAW first came to the plant in the early 1930's, a company spokesman said.

The only previous labor union at Studebaker was the old Knights of Labor and its only strike the company could find record of was some time in the 1880's in the wagon manufacturing days.

American Motors-UAW Deadlock
In Detroit, American Motors (Nash-Hudson) and the UAW continued in a long deadlock as midnight expiration of a twice extended contract neared. AMC employs 24,000 in Michigan, Wisconsin and California.

AMC says it has offered a layoff pay plan similar to those of the "Big Three," but insists it will not meet hourly increases won elsewhere because it already was paying more. It has accused UAW of what it calls "pattern-plus bargaining," winning packages from the "Big Three" and demanding this plus more from the independents.

Flood Relief Funds Needed Above Quota
Today over $5,000,000 has been received for flood relief from the Red Cross chapters across the nation while sharply mounting tolls of homes destroyed and damaged sent the estimated cost of aid to its victims in the six eastern states flood area to $10,000,000.

The Red Cross job is fantastic in its variety. Five thousand to 7,000 persons are being fed daily in the Red Cross shelters. Hundreds are being housed. Fresh water is distributed. Immunization shots are being given by volunteer nurses, often averaging 1,000 shots an hour. Orders are being given for food, clothes, baby feeding equipment, furniture, etc. Food orders must include charcoal for cooking as much of the area is still without power or gas.

It is not often that the Red Cross makes special appeal for additional funds, but it must do so now for there is not sufficient relief budget to cope with the magnitude of this six state disaster. The Red Cross and the stricken people are dependent entirely on the generosity of the American people. The Pettis County Chapter has exceeded its minimum quota of $800. To date, contributions have been received in the amount of $1,226. The need is very great, and it is hoped that generous donations will continue to be made for the rehabilitation of these people who cannot help themselves.

Checks may be sent to Red Cross, 112 West Fourth Street.

Lady Garmentworkers File $107,000 Damage Suit Against Hotel
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The AFL International Ladies' Garment Workers Union today filed a $107,000 damage suit against the Kingsway Hotel here, charging the hotel cancelled its annual "lecture dance" because some of the invited guests were Negroes.

The union, in its suit filed with the circuit court clerk, asked judgments of $3,500 for abrogation of the contract, $3,500 for alleged violation of the innkeepers' duty under state laws and $100,000 punitive damage.

In the suit, the union charged the hotel entered into a contract for rental of two rooms for the affairs, scheduled for Oct. 14 and said the management was informed during negotiations that union membership was mixed.

On Aug. 23, the suit said, the union received a letter from the hotel saying the contract was being cancelled because some of the guests would be Negroes.

Fresh Speculation On His Plans—
Ike Sets Political Strategy Meet To Chart '56 Campaign
DENVER, Sept. 1.—(AP)—President Eisenhower today booked a high-level political strategy pow-wow for Sept. 10 to chart the 1956 campaign wars—and thereby touched off fresh speculation about whether he will seek re-election.

The summer White House announcement that he will hold a breakfast conference here then with the 48 Republican state chairmen seemed to be at least a pretty clear indication the President plans an active role in the campaign whether he runs or not.

But as for the answer to that red hot will-he-run question, Eisenhower continued to keep his own counsel.

At any rate, it is probably a safe wager that the state chairmen at the Sept. 10 session will make a strong appeal to the President to go for a second term.

Arriving here along with them will be Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who for months has been predicting that Eisenhower will run again. He never has claimed to have any inside information, however.

Also at the Denver meeting will be Rep. Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Republican Congressional Campaign Committee. His opposite number in the Senate, Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), will be unable to attend because of speaking engagements elsewhere.

Simpson and Goldwater are in charge of the party drive to recapture control of Congress from the Democrats in the 1956 election.

State Of Siege Is Declared For Peron In Buenos Aires

Argentine Congress Gives President Dictatorial Police Powers For Campaign Against His Enemies

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Congress tonight gave President Juan D. Peron dictatorial police powers to carry on his new campaign to "annihilate and crush" his enemies.

It declared a state of siege in Buenos Aires within hours after Peron demanded the emergency powers as part of his get-tough policy.

The all-Peronista Senate acclaimed the siege bill into law, after the House of Deputies rammed it through a rowdy two-hour session by a vote of 109-12.

The speedy Congressional action clamped police powers on an area embracing more than three million of Argentina's 19 million citizens.

In Effect To Crush Trouble
Angel Enrique Peralta, who represents the powerful pro-Peron General Confederation of Labor in the House of Deputies, said the state of siege "will last as long as necessary—until we eliminate the last danger spot of troublemakers."

A state of siege would give Peron forces extraordinary powers such as arrest and punishment of alleged troublemakers on the spot.

Peron said he needed the powers to deal more effectively with his political enemies. He spelled out these powers to a wildly cheering throng in the Plaza de Mayo last night when he withdrew an earlier offer to resign.

He told his well-organized followers to "annihilate and crush" the enemy, and added:

"We have to answer violence with greater violence . . . When one of our people falls, five of them will fall . . . From now on . . . he who is any place tries to disturb order . . . contrary to the law of the constitution may be slain by any Argentine."

The siege bill was introduced in the House by Peronista floor leader Oscar Bidegain. Bidegain told the House:

"A nucleus of oligarchs in the federal capital is directing permanent attacks against the people and the authorities with terrorism, revolution and crime."

Peron clamped a state of siege on the entire country for 13 days after the unsuccessful June 16 revolt. Argentina has been under a state of internal war since September 1951, when a band of military men staged another unsuccessful revolt to oust Peron.

Lebanon Residents Report Homes Shaken By Earth Disturbance
LEBANON, Mo., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Some Lebanon residents reported today their homes were shaken this morning by a mysterious earth movement.

Mrs. Len Pool reported her home was shaken and dishes and windows rattled. Others described it as a long roll of thunder, echoing back and forth.

Checks with contractors uncovered no major explosions or blasting operations.

The time of the movement was at 8:30 a. m.

A check with St. Louis University showed nothing had been recorded on its seismograph at 8:30 a. m. but there was a slight disturbance at 7:28 a. m. The university added the movement was so slight the location could not be determined.

Youth Delinquency Increase Seen On Indian Reservations
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—subcommittee to investigate juvenile delinquency, headed by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) The report was released by Sen. Langer (R-N. D.) in the absence of Kefauver, who is visiting Europe.

Hearings were held on North Dakota Indian reservations, and in Phoenix, Ariz.; Palm Springs, Calif., and Washington, D. C.

The report said:

"The subcommittee finds that the major contributing factors to delinquency among Indian children are poverty and poor living conditions; lack of effective law and order; disorganized, weak and broken family life; poor educational programs, and the difficulties in making the transition from an old to a new culture."

Poverty, disease, "rural slums," broken homes, illegitimate children, child desertion, lack of law and order enforcement—all these ran through the report.

Through it all, too, was that old bugaboo of the Indian—firewater.

Of 76 convictions involving juveniles among the 4,000 Indians on the San Carlos Apache Reservation of Arizona in 1954, 59 of them were charges of "disorderly conduct, drunk."

Two KC Financiers Plead Innocent To Embezzlement Charges
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Police seized books and records of a "we pay your bills" agency today and arrested two men identified as Kansas City, Kan., financiers.

The pair, who gave their names as M. H. Neal, 33, and Robert Knight, 27, pleaded innocent before Peace Justice Howard Boyer to embezzlement charges and were released on $1,000 bond each. Preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 19.

Jack Wells, assistant county attorney, said he learned that the firm, known as Budget Plan, Inc., had taken in about $45,000 since April.

The raid was made on complaint of Richard Snook who claimed the defendants took him for $63. Wells said it was one of several complaints against the firm.

Snook said he signed a contract by which the firm was to correlate and pay off his debts, but none of his creditors were paid.

Within Two Weeks--

Time Is Now for the Best Seeding of Your Home Lawn

The last week in August or the first week in September is the best time to seed lawns. At this time of year there will be less competition from weeds and there is likely to be cooler weather with a better supply of moisture.

Before you start to work, it's a good idea to measure off your lawn into 1000 square foot plots because most recommendations on lawn seeding are made on the basis of this size area.

Two essential points in making a seeding are to make sure there is an adequate supply of plant food in the soil and to use the right kind of seed.

Take a soil sample from your lawn to your county agent for testing. That's the sure way of finding out what plant food you need to apply. Depending on the soil test, you may need to use some lime and rock phosphate. In addition to these, put on about ten pounds of 10-10-10 per 1000 square feet. If you don't apply lime and rock phosphate, use 20 pounds of 5-20-5.

It's important to work this fertilizer into the top 3 or 4 inches of soil. And that is all the deeper the seedbed needs to be worked. In

Catholic Center Is Popular--

Man's Gift to His Church Has Benefitted Whole Community

It was just a little house six miles south of town where Fred Sheets, a retired meat cutter lived alone. It didn't look like a great deal to his friends, and he had many very good friends, especially among the people of his faith, Catholic, but to this man it was home. The setting of the little house was beautiful, 20 acres of wooded terrain where he was very close to nature, and he loved it.

A quiet man, one who kept his thoughts to himself, he went one day to the Sacred Heart Rectory with an offer to donate this tract of land that he himself loved so much, to the church to be developed into a recreational area for Catholics of the community. That was late in 1945 and by mid-year of 1946 plans had been completed to accept the property in the name of the Ordinaty of the Diocese of Kansas City and to develop the grounds into a recreational center for Catholics and their friends of the Sedalia area.

Information and invitations were extended to the people of the parishes in Sedalia, Clifton City, Bahrer, Spring Fork, Cole Camp, Windsor, Warsaw, Tipton, Clear Creek, Martinsville and Pilot Grove, and while he still lived Mr. Sheets saw the beginning of the development of what is now a wonderful place for outings of all kinds. Later he died but his gift has proved a real joy to the entire community of all faiths.

Little by little many things have been done and added to the recreational area. At the very first volunteer workers started preparing the grounds for outings and picnics. A deep ravine was at once recognized as a splendid location for a large lake and the State Conservation representatives drew up plans and specifications for a dam across the ravine. The Menefee Construction Co., volunteered bulldozer work and in four days all that was needed was a liberal rain and when it came the Catholic Community Center had a lake.

Work continued with underbrush and trees being cleared away. Ovens and tables were built and the grounds became a place where families went for outings and community picnics became popular. Here Scouts found the wooded area ideal for their outdoor scouting and clubs liked to gather there for picnics.

The income received from memberships and rentals go into a fund for improvements.

A committee was appointed to arrange for the care of the center and to see that improvements were made. During the years from 1947 to 1951 roads were improved, bathing docks and houses were built, a dance and picnic floor, 80 feet by 60 feet of concrete, was laid and on it was erected a refreshment stand.

At the beginning of the 1952 season the grounds, their care and improvement were entrusted to the Knights of Columbus, as the logical organization for the job. The Knights accepted the responsibility, appointed a chairman with 16 committeemen to take care of the project and since that time the center has developed into an outstanding recreational center of Central Missouri. Modern and permanent improvements have been made which include facilities for bathing, wading, swimming, boating and fishing, playground swings, sand boxes and games, the concession stand and fully equipped kitchen, a large enclosed dining room with tables, benches and counters, all modern and with good water. There is electric power and lights, bottle gas fuel, the large dance and picnic floor, the outdoor ovens and tables, all constructed on grounds made practically flood and mud-proof by the most modern methods of grading and drainage. Roads reaching out in every direction are hard, all weather roads and even within the grounds the black top road leads directly to a fine, all-weather parking lot for cars. The grounds include a nice residence for the caretaker, a garden plot and a ten-acre wooded area.

All this has been provided through the united efforts of volunteer workers of all trades.

And so the dream of a man who loved his 20 acres of land filled with the beauties of nature has come true. Now, a long time after his death, his friends, people of his faith and others gather in that wooded area that for years he called home and among them lives the memory of him who gave the land for their enjoyment.

Caught In Off-Moments--

Teachers Tell of Beginning School Year With Students

Kids take note — here is the real story of how your teachers will begin the school year.

Yes, we caught some of them in the off-moments and asked them for a statement as to how they thought they could best get you "back in the groove" after your extended summer vacation and they told us.

Sound bad? Well, it isn't really that bad. You see, they for the most part feel that you are just as anxious as they to get back to the schoolroom. The only problem that they find is directing your stored up energies in an academic direction.

Miss Hazel Gray, who is well known to most of you (especially juniors in high school) has this to say: "I let the children know that there is work to do. Since we only have a limited time to do it I make it clear that the time to start is now." That doesn't sound so bad, does it?

Howard Glavin, who doubles at athletic coaching and teaching health classes says that he feels the best thing to do is to have a talk about what lies ahead for the school year. According to him, once you get your new books and have learned your assignments you will be more than willing to work — and he wants you to do just this.

"Busy people are happy people" says Mrs. Mildred Heynen. So just to make sure that you are happy she makes sure that you are busy. Mrs. Heynen is serious in this philosophy, kids, through her many years of teaching, experiences she has found that a class with too little to do is an unhappy and restless class. Therefore, she wants to let you have definite assignments in her English courses and let you have some real work to do.

Also teaching in the high school English courses is Mrs. Thelma Cook, who many of you kids know as "Mama Cook". She tells us that most of you senior pupils are pretty well bored with your summer and too happy to be back. Therefore, she feels that the problem with you older students is really no problem at all and that, for the most part, you are ready, willing, and able to cooperate.

Mrs. Elizabeth Yurasich, who will teach citizenship to many freshman pupils has this to say: "At the end of the summer my age groups are nearly always ready for work. My main problem is directing their energies to the problem of studies rather than something far removed from the classroom."

"Of course," she adds, "since I teach a required subject I don't like to make the children feel like they are 'trapped.' I therefore hold a discussion with them and we find out together how citizenship affects each and every one of them."

Down in the grade school ranks the teachers have a little different problem, but they seem to handle it with skill and sincerity.

Mrs. Dorothy Kitchen, who teaches third grade at Hubbard, says that most of you are not nearly as restless as we older persons might think. She says that you are usually excited to be back and to see the new books, supplies and pictures. Also, she feels that the thrill of being a grade higher plays a definite role in your behavior.

Just in case you do get out of hand, however, she has a few simple rules which she follows. First, if the days are hot and you kids are restless she might serve a treat of lemonade in the afternoon. (That's not too hard to take, is it?)

Secondly, if your restlessness persists she might give you an uncharted nap period whereby you can relax yourselves. Last, she feels that you will like to share your summer experiences with your friends in your grade, and this will help you get in the swing of things.

Mrs. C. W. Van Horn teaches the seventh grade at Mark Twain. She has much confidence in all of you and says that you are really no problem at all. You are ready to come back to the classroom and to work as hard as you can. Jumping over to Horace Mann grade school we find a first grade teacher, Mrs. Gladys Vaughan, who lets us in on her secret. Since you first-graders have had little, if any, classroom experience she says that she lets you take your time in adjusting to your new environment. She says that the heat is a big problem when you first start because of the way you get tired. Therefore, she feels that the only problem she has with you first graders is the possibility of the heat itself.

Holding the second grade teaching position at Horace Mann is Mrs. Burke. She says that the thing she tries to do first with you second graders is refresh your memory for the things you have forgotten since the first grade. Adding a few thoughtful words, she says "I always treat my second graders as first graders until they prove otherwise. One of the chief mistakes many make is considering their children as second graders the minute they leave the first. They are not second graders until the day comes when they are capable of doing the second grade level work."

There you have it, kids. Sure, this doesn't include many of your teachers because space won't allow that. You can see how they're thinking however. They have utmost faith in you and your abilities and are ready to give you any aid which they can.

Let's not let our teachers down. Don't you think we can all pitch in and help them to make this the most successful of all school years?

Bridge Panic

Shriners Plan Convention In Sedalia Area

The orientals will invade Sedalia on Saturday, Sept. 10, or so it will seem when members of the Ararat Shrine of Kansas City gather here for a big ceremonial.

A parade will be held at 2 p.m. in the downtown section of Sedalia with bands, chanters, a motorcycle squad, the harem and marching Shriners wearing their red fezes. The guest of honor will also appear in the parade, Illustrious Potentate George W. Ryan.

Following the parade, an outstanding performance will be presented by the bands, the motorcycle squad and the chanters, all in their oriental costumes. The big black members of the harem in their grass skirts will be performing their antics, too, in the stores and on the street.

It has been several years since the people of Sedalia and surrounding area have had an opportunity to see this colorful organization parading and performing.

The big class to be initiated during the ceremonial will include men from Sedalia, Clinton, Windsor, Warrensburg, Carrollton, Richmond, Marshall, Boonville and Lee's Summit.

The 1955 Divan of officers from Ararat Temple are as follows: George W. Ryan, illustrious potentate; Roy P. Swanson, chief rabbi; Emil O. Bayerl, assistant rabbi; Joel K. Knoop, high priest and prophet; William J. Tobler, oriental guide; T. D. Williamson, treasurer; George M. Saunders, recorder emeritus; Raymond E. Thornton, recorder; Fred Bellemere Jr., first ceremonial master; Clark C. Ewing, second ceremonial master; James B. Anchors, marshal; and W. W. Bennett, captain of the guard.

The Shrine is the fun organization of Masonic order and yet the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine have become even more noted for their philanthropy, their Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children. For 34 years the Shriners have taken a pride in the great work accomplished in these temples of mercy in which 250,000 crippled children have been ministered to. Children of all faiths and all colors have been given an opportunity to seek aid in the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children that they might walk and play, that they might live normal lives. And through these years they have needed only a Shriner's recommendation to get them in. Always the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine are watching for children who need their help. The names may have to go on a waiting list for awhile if the hospitals are full, but a crippled child is always taken care of.

Mrs. Virginia Goode Does Most All High School's Clerical Work

What goes on in a school office? Mrs. Virginia Dugan Goode should know. Except for 11 months in 1946 when she worked in the office at Montgomery Ward's, that is the only job she has ever had.

The daughter of the late Ernest Dugan, who for many years served on the local school board, Virginia grew up in Sedalia. Just about the time she was graduated from high school, there was a decision made by the school board to put secretaries in the school offices. Her dad came home and told about it and said that a secretary was needed at Jefferson School. That gave Virginia an idea. What was wrong with her trying for that job? After all, she was going to have to have a job. So she applied and got it.

After her first year as secretary at Jefferson School she was transferred to Smith-Cotton where she has been ever since — except, of course, the 11 months with Montgomery Ward. She didn't like it in the store. She missed the high school students and their little visits to the office, necessary visits and otherwise, thinks Virginia, but it is always fun having them around.

In the office she takes care of the high school records, sends transcripts of grades to the colleges and does all sorts of things. Her job is a year around one with two weeks off for vacation. It is a busy place because she does all the ditto work for all the teachers, that is for tests, programs and so on. There are grades to record on permanent records and all records must be kept up to date, drops, active, senior cards filed after graduating, and those transcripts for college students must be typed and mailed.

A daily attendance record must be kept, along with a daily record of tardies during the school months, and telephone calls come in with messages to be sent to students and teachers. Virginia hopes the loudspeaker will be working this year. It didn't work last year toward the last and it was necessary to send one of the students to tell a teacher something or deliver a message of some kind. With the loudspeaker they can talk directly with the teachers from the office.

During the year there is a list of tuition students typed and checked for Smith-Cotton and a list of federally connected students typed and checked, also for Smith-Cotton.

Always there is correspondence to be typed and mailed and dozens of other things that Virginia couldn't even remember — maybe that's because new things keep coming up all the time; she can't keep track of them.

She gets along fine with the students. She enjoys having them come to the office for this and that. They can find more things to come there for, Virginia says. Sometimes they come to get patched up, for in the office is a first aid kit. You never saw the like of the bruises, cuts, burns and all sorts of ailments they come in with, she says.

Well, Virginia works all summer, too, except her vacation time, so what does she find to do when there isn't any school? That is the time schedules are copied, and that is a big job.

Virginia was a member of the first and only mid-term graduating class of Smith-Cotton High School. It was her first year in the office at Smith-Cotton that she was sent on an errand to the workshop where Pinkney Miller was teaching a class of boys. There was a little step there and somehow Virginia forgot about the step or just missed it and the next thing she was sprawling all over the floor in front of Miller and all of the boys. That was her most embarrassing moment and everybody laughed but her.

One of the funniest things that ever happened to her, Virginia thinks, was during the war when an old man wandered into the office and looked things over. Then he asked her if she was married. When she said she wasn't he gave her a good lecture and told her she wasn't patriotic. She should get married and start raising boys so Uncle Sam would have plenty of soldiers. It was 1948 before she decided maybe the old man was right, getting married was a good idea and so she married Jesse L. Goode. She doesn't have any future soldiers but she does have a little WAC, WAVE or Lady Marine—Vida Lou, two years old—she hopes Uncle Sam will never need.

Her husband, who grew up in Sedalia, too, is employed with the Highway Department at the Fair grounds.

Virginia is in the office of the Smith-Cotton principal, Forrest Drake, Pinkney Miller, assistant principal and coordinator, is also in the office and this year Virginia has a new assistant, Mrs. Lloyd Kennon. Always there is a student in the office each hour of the day to run errands, too.

There isn't anybody in the principal's office who know as much about it as Virginia. She knows where everything is, how to do everything to be done and is willing to do anything, anytime for anybody. It is this service that she gives cheerfully day in and day out that caused the teachers several years ago to write her a letter of praise and appreciation of her kindness, her consideration and her ability. But that is Virginia's way of life—she likes her job in the principal's office at Smith-Cotton because it gives her the opportunity to be of real service to people and she even likes doing the routine because that, too, is her job.

Four Sedalians Comprise CMSC Top Speech Students

Four young Sedalians make up half the public speaking group at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, and they are looking forward to going back again this fall to bring more laurels to themselves and their school. They are Maurice Hoffman, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Dimmitt Hoffman, 1000 South Vermont; Bill Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hammond, 508 East 11th; Donald Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Barnes, 909 West Tenth, and Larry Lingle, son of Mrs. Erna Lingle, 906 South Osage.

Throughout the year of 1954-55 these youngsters won honors everywhere they went. Donald and Bill will be juniors this year and have been debating together for the past five years, three years in Smith-Cotton and two years at CMSC. Not only that but they are roommates in a Warrensburg home and spend most of their time arguing. If the people didn't know the boys were debate students they would think they got along like cats and dogs because arguments sometimes get loud and heated. But they know that Bill and Don are the best of friends and they are merely working out points that will help them win debates.

In the state tournament Donald was given the highest ranking in the Junior Men's Oratory, was first in Junior Oratory in the state, received second highest speakers ranking in the state tournament and third in oratory. Bill took third in the state in senior oratory and the pair was undefeated at Bradley University, Peoria, one of the largest tournaments in the country. They won three out of four at Kansas University where Larry was undefeated. Larry was a member of the state top ranking debate team and was undefeated at a tournament held in Junior College CMSC the first week in March. Debating with him was Paul Waterhouse of Kansas City. Maurine, too, had a good record, and so the four of them, proud of their record, began to plan a trip to the Redlands University, Redlands, Calif., to the Pi Kappa Delta National Tournament.

Pi Kappa Delta is a national speakers organization, the largest in the world, made up of small universities and colleges. All four speakers are members.

Of course, California is a long ways off and it would take quite a bit of money to make the trip so they started doing things to make money to finance it. They had two chili suppers and did other things to make money. They planned a car wash but it snowed that day. They did a little begging from alumni and the college. They finally came up with barely enough money to take three of them, but Larry didn't get to go.

The national tournament was from April 1 through April 8 and with the bearded Dr. Gilbert Rau, director of speech at CMSC, the three youngsters started out. Dr. Rau doesn't always wear a beard, but in Warrensburg a Centennial was about to take place. Men of the town were advertising it and getting ready for the celebration by letting their beards grow. Of course, Maurine, Bill and Don knew why he was wearing a beard and didn't mind a bit, but people along the way looked at him curiously and asked questions. They thought this man must be a little well—peculiar.

The day was perfect when they left Missouri in a car they were taking through to deliver in California for a Kansas City dealer. After that each state seemed to offer a different variety of weather, and not in mild portions by any means. In Oklahoma it rained, they ran into ice in Texas, another state offered dust storms and then in New Mexico sandstorms. Sand storms were so bad they pockmarked the windshield, scratched the paint off the car and sifted an inch or so of sand in over the floor of the car.

They had plans to see the Grand Canyon but difficulty with the car changed their minds. Instead they saw Albuquerque—on foot. It was in Albuquerque that the car broke down and it cost $44 to have it fixed. While it was being fixed they did the best they could to kill time in Albuquerque! then they tried to convince the garage man that it was in the contract should the car break down the Kansas City dealer would pay for it. There was more time spent in Albuquerque, calls made — long distance calls, reversed, of course, and at last in desperation Dr. Rau began to get his temper up. If they weren't going to live up to their part of the contract he wouldn't live up to his. He was supposed to deliver the car in California but he would just leave it in Albuquerque and take the bus the remainder of the way. He wasn't a speech instructor for nothing—he won his point and they went on their way—in the car.

When they reached California the day was just as beautiful as the day they left Missouri.

There are 185 schools in the fraternity and 116 of them were there. Bill and Don felt they didn't do so badly in debate. They ranked in the men's teams class 25th out of the 116. There were 18 teams from Missouri and they won five out of eight debates tying with Westminster for Missouri teams.

The winners in the national tournament were Augustana, Rock Island, Ill., Seattle Pacific, Seattle, Wash., in the men's division and in the women's division St. Olaf's College and University of California. Maurine and Lucretia Schneider from Kansas City debated in the women's division.

The boys were proud of Maurine, too. She received excellent in discussion. Superior is highest but there were only six or eight of the entire group who received superior so she really made a grand showing with excellent.

Dr. Rau, whiskers and all, served as national director of discussion at the tournament. "That's your coach with the beard, isn't it?" some of the boys at the tournament asked Don and Bill. They said it was and then one of the boys spoke up: "Is there anything the matter with him?"

While they were in California the boys went swimming at the beach and one day they went to Palm Springs — then the CMSC group started back home on the train, arriving with $12 of their money left.

The subject debated was: Resolved that the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the Communist government of China. The new subject for the coming year is: Resolved that the non-agricultural industries of United States should guarantee their employees an annual wage. Dr. John Randolph, Fulton, is the retiring national president and Dr. Theodore Nelson, St. Olaf's College, Northfield, Minn., is the newly elected president.

The next national tournament will be at South Dakota State College, Brookings, S.D., and are these former students of Miss Anna Sawford. Smith-Cotton, going to be there? They certainly are and this time Larry hopes to go, too. Miss Sawford is justly proud of them as she is all of her former students everywhere who are making a good showing. This time when Dr. Rau goes with them he will have no beard, he is shaving regularly now, since the Centennial is over.

Patrolman's Job Remains Disheartening

Many and varied are the incidents in the life of a Missouri Highway Patrolman as he goes about his daily job of patrolling the state's vast highway system to regulate traffic and enforce the laws.

The most disheartening part of his job, perhaps, is the day after day view of human failure, discourtesy and barbaric driving habits displayed by motorists. The most repulsive part of his job is viewing the horrible results, the death and injury that inevitably occur from careless and reckless driving.

Every now and then some incident occurs that is so unusual from the daily happenings that it brings new hope and faith to the officer.

Such an occurrence was related by a member of the highway patrol who was driving an unmarked car.

On leaving one city he found himself behind a car traveling at a reasonable rate—not too fast and not too slow. After several miles of travel the officer became aware of the unusually good job of driving being done by the driver of the car ahead. He never took chances; passed only when the way ahead was clear; always signalled his intentions to turn, slow down or stop. Even in passing he signalled his intention to turn into the left lane and sounded his horn before passing the car ahead. He obeyed all traffic signs and reduced his speed to the posted limit when going through towns.

The patrol officer followed the driver for 60 miles before stopping him—not to arrest or warn him, but to congratulate him on a splendid job of driving.

Highway patrolmen say that it isn't often they find a driver driving as every good citizen should. It is a pleasure too seldom experienced.

Here Is Where Schooling Funds Come From

For an idea of where school funds come from, here is a breakdown by Dr. Heber U. Hunt, superintendent of Sedalia's public schools, on sources of revenue.

Slightly over 55 per cent of public school revenue here comes from local taxes. This amounted to $425,894.40 for 1954-55.

About 28 per cent, or $219,320.51, came from the state. The remaining 15 per cent is made up of miscellaneous sources the largest of which comes from the railroad tax supplying over $47,000 in 1954-55.

Tuition brings in almost $27,000 and textbook funds over $15,000. The county and township furnished $3,193.35 while the federal government, in two separate funds, contributed almost $13,000. Rents brought in about $3,300 and sale of property furnished $2,461.

The remainder is made up of intangible tax of $7,713 and "miscellaneous" of about $500.

Of this money, the greatest bulk of it, almost 70 per cent, goes for salaries of employees of the school board. This amounts to slightly over $530,000.

About $44,000 is paid out in interest and bonds for about 5.7 per cent. Capital outlay takes up about 11.5 per cent or $88,193. The remaining 13.7 per cent goes for various items.

School business is obviously big business.

40 YEARS A STEEPLEJACK—Joe Stone, who claims St. Paul, Minn., as his home, is working at the State Fair Floral Co. in Sedalia, pursuing the occupation which he has followed for some 40 years. Now 63, Stone claims the undisputed title of the oldest steeplejack on the road today. He goes from town to town with only his wife, and he accepts jobs around each community when he gets there, hiring extra workers as needed. After finishing his repair work on the State Fair chimney, Stone will go to Sacred Heart Church where he will make necessary repairs on their steeple. (Staff Photo.)

Changes In Faculties In Summer

While Sedalia's school age children and teenagers are enjoying a summer of work or recreation—or both—the school system's building and grounds department is working hard to complete repairs and improvements before school starts in September.

The most conspicuous improvement in the grade school system is the remodeling of the Broadway school basement for an enlarged lunch room, projection room, storage room and quarters for the school nurse.

The old basement, which previously had a kitchen and a small lunch room, has been painted, a ceiling put in, the boiler room sealed off and a concrete floor put in what used to be storage space. An outside entrance to the basement lunch area has been constructed.

A multi-paned glass partition has been put up at the bottom of the entrance to keep the area warm during the winter. Several arched doorway to a boiler room have been sealed with concrete blocks and painted by the maintenance crew.

The floor, which had previously been dirt, has been laid out in wide strips of concrete which will be easy to keep clean. The nurse's room is of sufficient size and lighted by two outside windows. A door has been installed to close in the projection room.

Other work to be done at Broadway includes a new incinerator, a sink for the art room on the second floor, a music stand rack, moveable blackboard, a bulletin board, five art easels, sanding and general repairs on desks, chairs, window coeds and scrubbing and treating all the floors.

Another major improvement is now in construction at Smith-Cotton High School. With the addition of a guidance director to the high school staff, the necessity for giving him an office arose. A room on the west end of the ground floor is being divided in half.

The north half will have an outer and inner office for the director and the south half, restroom facilities for women on the faculty.

John Thomas, Former Pupil, Will Be Whittier Principal

When Whittier School reopens for classes this September, its principal will be a former student returned to manage his own grade school.

John "Bud" Thomas, of 1000 Murray, was given the post by unanimous vote of the board of education on April 29. He replaced Miss Catherine Garman, also a former principal and teacher at Jefferson School, who had requested a return to classroom duties in preference to administrative work.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Thomas, 813 East 16th Street. After finishing his grade school years at Whittier, he attended Smith-Cotton and graduated in the class of 1947. During high school he was well known for his athletic activities, lettering in basketball and track.

But baseball was John's forte, with all four high school years spent playing with the American Legion team here. He was outstanding enough to merit the short-stop position in a national East-West Legion game in the Polo Grounds in New York.

After graduating, John entered the St. Louis Browns farm system,

New Drugs Give Hope In Tuberculosis

Patsy was in bed in the hospital. She had been there a long time, more than a year. Far advanced pulmonary tuberculosis, the doctors said. She was a very sick girl, and she wasn't getting better. But one day the doctors said they had something new, a drug they called streptomycin. Careful experimental work had been done on guinea pigs. Now they were ready to try it on human beings. Patsy was to be the first.

That was a little over ten years ago. Now Patsy is married, the busy mother of three active children. When she goes out fishing or to a dance with her husband, she remembers that first shot of streptomycin.

Today, the drug, much improved, is still being given with success to TB patients. But it has been joined by other drugs such as PAS (paraaminosalicylic acid) and isoniazid which improve even more the TB patient's chances of getting well. Even though the treatment used on Patsy was inadequate by today's standards, the first of the antituberculosis drugs saved her life and went on to save many others.

In a scientific paper reporting on Patsy's story, the doctors who pioneered in streptomycin recalled that experiments to determine the effect of the drug on TB were still in progress when Patsy got her first shot. "However, the suppressive effect had appeared so striking among guinea pigs that everyone concerned, including the patient herself, was eager to try the drug when her condition indicated the need for just such a suppressive effect."

Because of lack of knowledge about the drug and the extremely limited amount available, very small amounts were given at first. Later, dosage was increased. Two and a half years after her first dose of streptomycin Patsy left the hospital, her disease arrested. Regular check-ups have showed that she is keeping well in spite of a very active life.

The happy ending of Patsy's story has been duplicated tens of thousands of times in the short history of antituberculosis drugs.

Bus Problem Is Still Prevalent For the Schools

One of the biggest problems facing the Sedalia Board of Education at the present time is that of bus transportation for those students who have to walk hazardous routes to get to school.

The problem arose after the discontinuance of the city bus lines. In one area, a city bus continued to operate on a private basis to furnish the children transportation to school paid by the school board.

Now even this service has been withdrawn by the operator leaving the board with the problem. They also are facing similar problems in other areas and have expressed the opinion as a group that service should be equalized for all areas needing it.

Although the board recently purchased a large over-the-road type passenger bus, this will be needed for activity trips and would not always be available for routine runs in the area to and from school. The old bus will be used for this but it is not enough to serve all areas needing the service.

The problem will have to be solved by finding another source from which to rent service or the purchase of additional buses. A dents of the affected areas have generally expressed a desire to assist in the situation in any way large expense to meet.

Schonbergers Will Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Schonberger, Dresden, will hold open house Sunday, Sept. 4 in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Through Kenyon Plan— Outstanding High Schoolers Get Advanced College Credit

In 1953 the faculties of 12 colleges in nine eastern and mid-western states voted to adopt a plan which would permit superior students, on examination, to begin their work at these institutions with advanced credit in one, or more of eleven subject — matter areas. The School and College Study of Admission with Advanced Standing, or the "Kenyon Plan," as it is generally known today, had been under consideration since January, 1951, when President Gordon K. Chalmers, on behalf of Kenyon College, invited the presidents or representatives of some of the nation's best-known colleges of the liberal arts and sciences to meet in Washington.

The meeting there was occasioned by the belief, long held in many quarters, that our American educational system does not at most levels provide strong and close instruction for its ablest youth. Too often, gifted young men and women spend their college freshman year either rehearsing elementary subject-matter with which they are already familiar or mastering elementary subject-matter which properly belongs to their secondary — school education. Educators at the Washington meeting were asked to consider the proposal that colleges endeavor to reach agreement on standards of advanced credit for advanced work completed in the eleventh and particularly the twelfth grades.

The original 12 colleges in the study were Bowdoin, Brown, Carleton, Haverford, Kenyon, M.I.T., Middlebury, Oberlin, Swarthmore, Washash, Wesleyan (Conn.), and Williams. The addition of Harvard, Northwestern, and The University of Pennsylvania has increased the group to 15.

The work of the Study has been made possible largely through the generosity of the Fund for the Advancement of Education, which has given Kenyon College $299,000 to administer on behalf of the Study.

Many teachers, principals, headmasters, deans, and presidents have been actively involved in the theoretical and practical concerns of the Kenyon Plan. They have defined the standards and requirements of college freshman — level work and the type of student for whom an advanced — credit program is designed. They have explored the administrative and organizational problems involved in introducing into colleges a system of admission with advanced credit, and investigated how secondary schools may revise some of their courses in order to give instruction at the college-freshman level. (One of the basic assumptions of the study is that the best place for the school boy and girl is school, and that even exceptional students should not ordinarily begin their college work before the usual age.)

Eleven sub-committees, composed of representatives of the member colleges and of the schools which were invited to participate in the experiment, defined standards for advanced — credit training in English composition, literature, Latin, French, German, Spanish, history, mathematics, physics, biology, and chemistry. It was felt that each of these afforded the kind of tough particularity which has always distinguished the traditional liberal arts training. A twelfth sub-committee concerned itself with the problem of individual development.

During the academic year 1953-54 16 schools offered courses designed to prepare students for examinations set by the Study. Among these schools were Horace Mann and the Bronx High School of Science in New York, Evanston Township High School in Illinois, Newton High School, Newton, Mass., Phillips Academy (Andover), Lawrenceville School, Groton School, Phillips Exeter Academy, and Hope High School in Providence. Other schools which are now participating in the plan include Bethesda — Chevy Chase High School in Maryland, Culver Military Academy, Oak Park and River Forest High School in Illinois, Walnut Hills High School in Cincinnati, the Loomis School, St. Louis Country Day School, and Mt. Lebanon High School in Pittsburgh.

President Gordon K. Chalmers of Kenyon is chairman of the Central Committee of the Study.

Marilyn Sue Garrett, will at Norman this fall. She graduated from the Smith-Cotton High School with the class of 1955. She was a member of the Archives staff, National Forensic League, Spiz Club, and the glee club. She was queen of the senior class. She will major in drama. (Lehmer Photo)

CMSC Receives Out-state Calls For New Teachers

The late summer always brings a last minute rush by schools to try and fill their ranks from the teachers colleges and universities and from persons in the area with teaching experience.

Superintendents usually get quite nervous about that time for fear the vacancies cannot be filled because of the ever-increasing shortage of applicants.

By way of illustration, the placement office of Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, furnishes a few statistics. They have received calls up to June 1 for 4,905 teachers about evenly divided between elementary and secondary positions.

Of these they have supplied a meager 241!

Of the 4,905 calls, 3,228 were from out of the state with 1,677 from Missouri.

Teachers were placed in the following states: California 6, Colorado 7, Florida, Illinois 2, Iowa 11, Kansas 20, Nebraska 1, New Jersey 1, Washington 2, and Wisconsin 2.

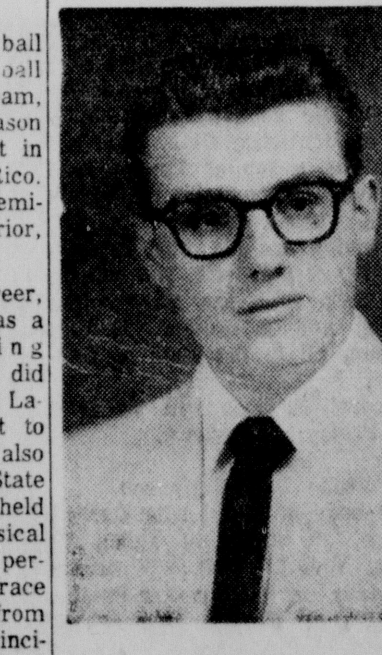

Salaries averaged higher for those teachers placed out-of-state for both elementary and secondary positions than for those placed in Missouri.

Local Students Have Received Scholarships

Miss Lucille Kirby and Miss Glenda Ruth Blaylock of Sedalia have been awarded scholarships at Central Missouri State College. Dean Loyd E. Grimes announced today.

Miss Beverly Sue Green and Miss Jewell Ann Schroeder of Hughesville, and Miss Bonnie Gorrrell of Green Ridge have also been awarded Regents scholarships at the college.

The CMSC Regents scholarship is awarded for high scholastic achievement, and exempts the holder from payment of incidental fees for three terms at the college. Recipients of the scholarship are expected to use them beginning with the fall term, which starts Sept. 12 at CMSC.

Larry Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Owen, 807 North Grand, will enter Central Missouri State College in Warrensburg this September. He plans to study journalism and music. He was employed in the news department of The Democrat-Capital during the summer. (Lehmer Photo)

Attorney General Says Patrolmen May Stop Trucks

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton ruled today officers of the Missouri Highway Patrol have full authority to stop overweight trucks, send them to a weight station and charge them for violating load limits.

The opinion was requested by Edward W. Garnholz, St. Louis County prosecuting attorney. He said his office had been having trouble getting convictions in such cases because of the defense argument that patrol officers do not have the power of search and seizure.

Dalton held that argument does not apply. He said patrol officers have the same right to enforce the truck weight laws as sheriffs and other peace officers.

In another opinion, the attorney general told A. J. Anderson, Cass County prosecuting attorney, that Cass County cannot set up a county planning commission because the county does not actually come in contact with the city limits of Kansas City.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

Talk of a cease-fire in Palestine bolsters the belief of American diplomatic observers that stabilization of the situation is quite possible.

This belief was adopted before the latest cease-fire moves and despite the extremely warlike events of the last two days.

Here's the way the thinking goes:

Israel, if she had been intending to resume the war now, would not have withdrawn from the Egyptian military headquarters she captured Wednesday night, but would have reinforced the raiders who were in a potent position relative to a large part of Egyptian forces in the area.

Egypt apparently is trying to escape the necessity of retaliation on her own part by claiming to have killed a large number of the attackers, and by claiming that two Egyptian planes collided instead of being shot down by Israelis yesterday.

Pressure is being applied by the Western Powers on both countries, though on a basis of persuasion rather than threats. By not trying to change the borders established by the 1948 truce, Israel and Egypt have avoided invocation of the tripartite statement by Britain, France and the United States that they would enforce the demarcation lines.

The Israeli theory about the retaliation raids is that, as they did in Jordan, a sufficient display of force will eventually make Egypt see that border harassment is no longer worthwhile.

Observers are almost unanimously agreed that if a new war were to develop, Israel would have everything to gain.

The Western Allies, of course, have the power to virtually order an end to the breaches of the peace. But the United States, particularly, is handicapped by the potency of Israel sympathizers in domestic politics. This potency played a large part in the establishment of Israel in the first place, and is a strong deterrent against any Washington administration which might wish to really put the screws on Israel.

British influence in Jordan, Egypt's only important ally in the dispute is such that Cairo cannot depend on that country's help even as much as she did in the 1948 war.

So what is hoped for now is that Egypt and Israel will consider themselves at something of a balance in the more recent troubles, and lie doggo for a while. Then they would like to see Egypt accept the existence of Israel as something she cannot do anything about, with possibly some boundary revisions. But the active Arab campaign of hate against Israel shows no signs of permitting this.
